Sounds like a possible thing. I found out about the blue blade thing while experimenting when I was about 10 years old, There were some reports of people hearing AM stations in their heads and thought they were going crazy and it turned out to be dental fillings that acted as rectifiers. Anything is possible, just not that you would think of it in normal situations.

Hydrogen.... exhausts water vapor, water vapor is more of a greenhouse gas by your standards than CO2.

If you drive enough cars through the desert you will raise the humidity which is the "Water Vapor" that will increase all the dry parts of the world to have more water vapor and that is more greenhouse gas.

Your Solution is worse than the problem.... The cure is worse than the disease.

While you could have made the argument that it would help the USA be energy self sufficient and that is a good thing, you leftists try to use the silly Global Warming myth as your basis and in that realm it makes no more sense than Global Warming its self.

Do you realize haw far from mainstream that sounds? Even my Dad liked

NPR, biased as it is, lies noticeably less than Rupert Murdoch's Fox News. And the absence of stridency is welcome.

But, having said that, it's very important to note that "mainstream" and "true" are not only _not_ the same thing, they are quite often mutually exclusive.

Um, Scotty,

The statement you quoted above and that caused you to get your knickers in a twist was written by RHF, NOT Joe from Kokomo.

You might want to pull your head out of your ass and try replying to the correct poster.

Joe, you're certainly not the one to lecture anyone about pulling their head out of their ass.

Hu Shi, missionaries, and women's rights

Before there were dissident bloggers and sexologists, there was Hu Shi (1891-1962) – the father of China's early 20th century literary renaissance. Born in Anhui Province, Hu received a PhD from Columbia University on a Boxer Indemnity Scholarship. In 1917, he quickly returned to China and began teaching at Peking University. Critical of Chinese tradition, Hu championed the vernacular movement, women's rights, and the values of freedom and democracy. After the Chinese Communist Party came to power, they labeled Hu an enemy of Marxist thought and banned his works for decades.

In the following essay, Hu Shi notes that missionaries, often considered the vanguard of the West's cultural invasion, did actually bring some positive change to China.

by Kevin Strom, WB4AIO

THE LIBERTY NET is the most exciting ï¿½ and one of the most venerable ï¿½ nets on the amateur radio bands today.

Emceed by published author Vic Misek, W1WCR, itï¿½s on the air every Saturday night at 10PM Eastern Time on or around 3950 kHz SSB ï¿½ usually within 10 kHz.

Propagation was generally good this week, and jamming was absent (though Summer static was a bit of a problem), making for excellent dialogue and information sharing.

Here are a few of the subjects discussed on this weekï¿½s net:

ï¿½ What should the American attitude be to Muslims? Should we be friendly to those who mind their own business and stay in their home nations, while firmly resisting any Muslim migration to the US? Or should we do as we are now doing, and happily welcome Muslim invaders to our shores ï¿½ while making unremitting war on the innocent Muslims who stay at home in their own countries? (18 minutes)

ï¿½ Are Muslims and Christians being baited to kill each other by a manipulative third force? (26 minutes)

ï¿½ Are White Americans being programmed to hate themselves ï¿½ or, failing that, are they manipulated into _pretending_ to hate their own race and to work for its dispossession in all their public acts and utterances? (32 minutes)

ï¿½ One of the regular features of the Liberty Net is K3DKï¿½s report on the number of bank failures in the past seven days: This weekï¿½s total is four. (52 minutes)

ï¿½ More than 40 per cent. of private real estate transactions in Florida are now foreclosure sales. (54 minutes)

ï¿½ Itï¿½s true that a small dose of socialism works much better in Germany and Switzerland than it does in the United States. But, then again, free enterprise (and practically everything else) works better there too: When you have the bad demographics of an increasingly genetically and culturally Third World population, like America does, nothing is going to work very well. (1 hour 13 minutes)

ï¿½ The combination of oil and the ï¿½dispersantsï¿½ used by BP after their spill is far more dangerous than the oil itself. (1 hour 35 minutes)

Thanks to N2SAG and N2IRJ and W1WCR, you can listen live ï¿½ and chat live ï¿½ via the Web whenever the Liberty Net is on the air. You can also download the Liberty Net right here at http://3950.net and listen on your PC or personal mp3 player.

I know. It was supposed to be some guys testing a radio but it was a poor choice of recording to do testing. Which makes you wonder: Was there an alternate purpose to the transmissions? Were they trying to attract attention?

I have an old Mechanix Illustrated magazine which dates back to the 1950's.What it is, way back then the U.S.Army handed over a 1957 Chevrolet pickup truck to a guy in Motor Pool.They told him to make the truck run on ammonia gas.At first he experimented with a lawnmower engine.He got it running on ammonia gas, then he started working on the truck.He mounted one or two tanks of ammonia gas which he had insulated and routed the exhaust pipe to keep the ammonia tanks warm in the bed of the truck and he fixed up a pipe from the ammonia tanks to the carburetor.He had to start the engine running on gasoline, then he switched over to the ammonia and the truck ran, but not with as much power as gasoline.

The idea was, the U.S.Army could use small nuke plants mounted on 18 wheelers and park by rivers/ponds/whatever and produce ammonia gas from water and air.

One time, I had to tow one of our Army 2/12 ton trucks to our Motor Pool in Saigon.A guy there was drilling holes in the center of intake valves.I asked him, Why? He said so the engine will keep on running if the ignition gets to wet with water.

Water vapor is indeed a short term greenhouse gas.. but there is one major difference between water vapor and, say, CO2. Water vapor precipitates out of the atmosphere in a regular cycle. It's called 'rain'. It also precipitates out nightly in the form of dew as the humidity reaches 100%.
Water vapor does not STAY in the atmosphere permanently.

To allege the nice folks at NPR are plotting against the USA is crazy.

The truth don't enter into it. I think the people that run WLS

Could be easily electrolyzed from sea water, using solar power.

NPR is so fair and balanced that if they do a spot on climate change, they have a global warming denier on the show for balance. Basically, they present both sides of the issue even if the other side is bonkers.

The BBC has done bits on numbers stations over the years. I don't recall NPR doing number stations in the past.

Thanks B.A.- I was hoping you'd respond. I know enough about electronics to think "maybe" it was feasible, hence the post. I appreciate it.

Yeah, copy that Dave. I'm familiar with the blades etc. etc. I used to have some sites with some pretty good stories on the matter.

Yeah, I remember an episode of Gilligan's Island - Ha!- where ole' Gilligan was bringing in stations out of his mouth. I forget the whole scenario and what led do it though. The professor would have Gilligan open his mouth and of course crystal clear stations came forth...lol...the Professor would turn his head in increments and badda bing- another station in the clear- just like a lazy susan turntable. Gotta love it.

Kevin - I enjoy all your posts because they are always well thought out and you're well spoken, the only thing I don't agree with you on is your feeling towards Israel. I know what angle you're coming from and please don't even bothering responding in the negative towards that country when you talk to me, other than that I agree with you 99% of the time.

The US will NEVER side with the Soviet Union, though it may be sold to us that way through the media, ain't gonna happen. The Bible clearly states that, but if you don't believe the Bible - then you're free to piece together whatever scenarios and hopes.

I'd love to REALLY know the reasons/why/and to who - that YS was all Huh? Not Joe, you must be mistaken - he knows everything about everything. We're just lucky to be in this group with him. You really need to list not only the winner but the runner up (which you did) in case the winner poses naked for a magazine or gets in trouble.....that's it..."fullfilling their obligations." So you need to list at least three just in case. ;-)

I'll certainly keep that suggestion in mind.

Interesting that the current 'winner' seems to be pretty much missing in action these days.

The same happened with 'Eduardo'.

Lithium-Ion Batteries may be a technical improvement over Lead-Acid and others;
but it still has to be Charged and Recharged Weekly,Daily, and/or Hourly; and in the end disposed-of {Solid Toxic Waste}.

We cannot burn our way out of global warming. We must convert sunlight as directly into electricity as is efficiently practicable; and pump water during the day and use gravity to generate electricity at night.

We can carefully tap geothermal heat. Melting glaciers will provide hydroelectric in areas that can use it.

We need to give up some things. Sacrifice or perish for sure.

Up until recently, I thought the same way. Then, Don Lancaster, of electronics book fame, convinced me otherwise.

http://www.tinaja.com/h2gas01.asp

I did some math to see how many amperes would be needed to run an average car at 70 kilometres per hour.

It came out to 6000 AMPS to make the hydrogen and that was at 100 percent fuel efficiency when burned. A car engine is about 25 percent efficient, so actually 24,000 amperes would be needed.

That converts to (12 volts X 24000 amps) / 746 watts = 386 horsepower

A normal car uses what? 20 or 30 horsepower to go 70 km/hr.

That is obscene. The math for solar isn't much better. Even if all the hydrogen was given to you FREE, it still costs too much. Energy density and storage issues are just two of the problems.

The electricity made by solar is far too nice of an energy form to be used in making hydrogen.

For about 2 years, the local country station was heard in the background of my phone, most of the time. If it was raining out, it was gone, but when it was dry, it was clearly audible on both sides of the conversation. My friend who lived about a mile from it could hear it from his one toaster. They had two and the other one, an old one without any gadgetry, was "clean". I heard it a few times through my stereo when I had my original CD player hooked up. It was always audible with headphones on, no matter what the source was, but you had to have the volume maxed out to really notice it.

The size of the US labour force has shrunk since May by 652,000.

Labour force data give the number of people looking for employment, making it an important measure of confidence in the economy.

The US economy lost 125,000 jobs last month, but that fall was the result of the mass layoff of temporary workers hired by the government for the 2010 census.

Adjusted for 0baMa0 Tse Dung's hiring-firing-hiring fraud:
http://www.nypost.com/p/news/business/two_more_census_workers_blow_the_OqY80N3DBTvL17VmxKKR0O

The good news? The unemployment rate fell to 9.5 percent — the lowest rate in a year.
The bad news? It only fell that much because so many people left the labor force.

Obfuscation is a Prof.Dr.DaviD-PhD passion - Saepe mendosus, nunquam

Never is along time.

Then there's the fact that billions of people believe that the artificial creation of an Israel in the middle of Palestine was the biggest blunder the United Nations has ever made. There was corruption and bribery at the highest levels.

The displaced Palestinian victim count is now over 4 million human beings, while the occupied land is inhabited by Russian and American immigrants. It's a perverse theft of land and resources.

But then, who are we to argue? The Creator wants the best for his one and ONLY children. Now, let's get out there and PILLAGE!

CO2 is filtered by plants.

The residual heat is what you claim as the DANGER.

My point being that the 30% to 99% rise will more than double the effect of water vapor in the Desert areas. The Average Humidity will be higher than in the past. While in a tropical area it may create little difference, once you move north past Miami Palm Beach you hit a temperate zone that for 50% of the year has a lower humidity, if you raise that to 100% humidity for the whole year you have nearly doubled the greenhouse effect on a regional scale....

In fact in Missouri the Corps of Engineers built lakes, lots and lots of lakes and all over the Ozarks.... People have said that, that increased the summer humidity of the area and had some effects. Maybe all the Hydro Electric power and water reservoirs/crop irrigation are doing more than co2? Will your EPA make water a hazardous gas and regulate it?

Rain every day at 3:00pm is nothing new in Miami but come December that ends till March and for those 4 months humidity drops from 90% to 70%.... If it rained everyday for those 4 months it wouldn't be a big deal other than you are increasing the time that humidity as an average is higher than the typical 70%.... and with all the SUN in Miami you have your "Green House heating" on steroids, at least if we follow your greenhouse mythology.

CO2 is filtered by plants. Co2 is a "trace" gas in air. Why isn't Mars a ball of fire with 98% Co2

The residual heat is what you claim as the DANGER.

How will you remove the heat? Why build cars that create a volatile

Maybe all the Hydro Electric power and water reservoirs/crop irrigation are doing more than co2? More water and more green means more evaporation and osmosis and that means more humidity and the Propaganda has been that "we made the deserts bloom". Will your EPA make water a hazardous gas and regulate it?

No names in my reply so anyone on the planet that agrees with what was written, can read my statement and the one who wrote it knows who he is.... Anyone that was offended can either accept that attributes sometimes get mucked up and just post saying they didn't say it and accept that it was unintentional.... or they can whine incessantly.

Typos and attributes don't make the truth any less true.

Keep repeating the rightard republican math and perhaps someone somewhere will believe it.

The reason the republican's loose is they think the public is really stupid and give them little credit. It explains perfectly why the tea party is linked with stupidity, and hence, the republican party.

Plumber Joe and Palin are the poster child!

Islam is the 6th woe put on mankind from the greatest deciever as your Koran admits.... you call him Allah, the Bible calls him Lucifer, the god of this world,
2 Corinthians 4:4 In whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them.

Revelation 9:13 ﷺAnd the sixth angel sounded, and I heard a voice from the four horns of the golden altar which is before God, 14 Saying to the sixth angel which had the trumpet, Loose the four angels which are bound in the great river Euphrates.
15 And the four angels were loosed, which were prepared for an hour, and a day, and a month, and a year, for to slay the third part of men.
16 And the number of the army of the horsemen were two hundred thousand thousand: and I heard the number of them.
17 And thus I saw the horses in the vision, and them that sat on them, having breastplates of fire,*(suicide vests) and of jacinth, and brimstone: and the heads of the horses were as the heads of lions; and out of their mouths issued fire and smoke and brimstone.(fatwas,edicts and all the other virulent violence that foams out of the mouths of clerics, and imans (as toads out of their mouths in another place))
18 By these three was the third part of men killed, by the fire, and by the smoke, and by the brimstone, which issued out of their mouths.
19 For their power is in their mouth, and in their tails: for their tails were like unto serpents, and had heads, and with them they do hurt.
20 And the rest of the men which were not killed by these plagues yet repented not of the works of their hands, that they should not worship devils, and idols of gold, and silver, and brass, and stone, and of wood: which neither can see, nor hear, nor walk

Islam the false prophet of Revelation 16:13, and here in the book of Daniel in the Old Testament. Beware those who have been decieved by this falehood.

Daniel 11:37 Neither shall he regard the God of his fathers, nor the desire of women, nor regard any god: for he shall magnify himself above all. (Mohammed) 38 But in his estate shall he honour the God of forces: and a god whom his fathers(Abraham and the true Prophets) knew not shall he honour with gold, and silver, and with precious stones, and pleasant things (Mosques).
39 Thus shall he do in the most strong holds with a strange god (Allah), whom he shall acknowledge and increase with glory: and he shall cause them to rule over many, and shall divide the land for gain.

40 And at the time of the end shall the king of the south push at him:
and the king of the north shall come against him like a whirlwind, with chariots, and with horsemen, and with many ships; and he shall enter into the countries, and shall overflow and pass over.
41 He shall enter also into the glorious land (Israel), and many countries shall be overthrown: but these shall escape out of his hand, even Edom,
and
Moab, and the chief of the children of Ammon.
42 He shall stretch forth his hand also upon the countries: and the land of Egypt shall not escape.
43 But he shall have power over the treasures of gold and of silver, and over all the precious things of Egypt: and the Libyans and the Ethiopians shall be at his steps.
44 But tidings out of the east and out of the north shall trouble him:
therefore he shall go forth with great fury to destroy, and utterly to make away many.
45 And he shall plant the tabernacles of his palace between the seas in the glorious holy mountain(al aqsa in Jerusalem,oh yes and the dome of the rock...it did say tabernacles didn't it); yet he shall come to his end, and none shall help him.

That's pretty good. I saw a typical Harley Fag (1) yesterday with the mandatory black T shirt. In big white lettering on the back, it declared:

"If you can read this, the b*tch fell off"

Nice way to impress people.

For the Toyota experience, I wonder how many of the problems are occurring in stuff they outsourced. My own experience with Toyota includes an Echo. It gave me over 240,000 km with no grief whatever.

I traded it in a Ford Ranger, which IS giving me grief. The last item was a failed alternator at 92,000 km. Before that, the tail-gate handle broke at the pivot point. Turns out the handle is 1/8th inch thick PLASTIC. Then there are the windows....Warranty repair is next to impossible to get.

Ha! Good story.

In the mid 70's, I lived about 4 blocks from a local H.S. AM station (KBPS 1450 KHz). Their signal was a nasty mess, and came in loud and clear on our phone line. I ended up having to replace our standard 4 wire station cable with 600 ohm shielded microphone cable to take care of the problem.

Yeah, that would be something to pick up your own telephone and hear radio in the background. I've never experienced it myself. I know my grandparents back in the day with WLW's tower looming within eyesight
- they would tell me stories about hearing "The Nation's Station" in places other than the radio. I don't know if you could hear it over their phone though.

Paul, you should tell the ignorant to look at the debt for W and the Republicans from Jan19,2002 to Jan19,2010. The incoming POTUS runs off of the previous POTUS' budget in the first year.

If stupidity was a capital crime, most of the far right (and some in the far left) would have a death sentence.

Hmm, did the show itself start at 0050 or is that when you just happened to catch it? I couldn't find anything for it. This is one of

It is becoming increasingly clear to anyone paying attention that the seeds of division are being sown with increased vigor by Obama's shadowy machine.

America, in her naiveté and eternal hopefulness, thought that electing Barack Hussein Obama would be the final chapter on race in America, and would hammer the last nail into a well-deserved coffin for the divisive racial narratives that demagogues and provocateurs have used for so long to tear down this country. Little did America know that Barack Obama was the candidate of exactly those demagogues and provocateurs.

In a stunning reversal of decades of progress and harmony, during which spokesmen from the hate fringe like Louis Farrakhan were cast outside the realm of decent society, Obama's presidency has ushered in the era of the hater. In the new doublespeak, hate is good.

And every single good decent American who is standing up for individual freedoms, small government, and self-reliance is now evil.

Sowing the seeds of division is a pillar of Obama's short but destructive presidency. It started early. The Boston incident involving Henry Louis Gates gave a clear indication of how he would enflame the populace with racist rhetoric. Back in July 2009, in a prime-time press conference, Obama smeared and libeled a good, decent (white) police officer with a spurious charge of racism. The police officer was just doing his job. In fact, the perp was the racist and the hater:

Police Officer Crowley made had been called to Black Studies Professor Henry Louis Gates's home in Cambridge, Massachusetts to investigate a reported break-in. As soon as Officer Crowley arrived and got to the front door, he encountered, standing inside the door, none other than Gates, who instantly began yelling at him in an extremely loud voice that he was a "racist police officer." Instead of defusing the situation by cooperating with the officer, who was, after all, only doing his job, instead of simply explaining politely that he lived in the house and that his house had not been broken into (though it's still not clear who the two young men were), Gates continued his "tumultuous," threatening ("you don't know who I am, you'll be sorry for messing with me"), and extremely insulting behavior for a long time, first inside the house, where his voice was so loud that the officer could not conduct a conversation over his police radio, then outside the house, alarming passersby, until, after warning Gates twice that he was behaving disorderly, Crowley arrested him. And during the whole time Gates kept bellowing that Crowley was a "racist police officer."

Obama grabbed the opportunity on national television, in yet another seizure of the airwaves, to divide and create discord. I wrote about it here. That incident was not a blip, but an opening salvo.

Obama and company's opening salvo. That was a red flag for America.

Concurrently, Americans began to speak out against statism, big government, high taxation, and increasing encroachment on our liberty. The movement, aptly named The Tea Party, exploded onto the scene and hit the streets on April 15, 2009, in protest against the socialist bailouts that Obama had imposed upon the people. Tax Day drew crowds in cities nationwide. They were summarily ignored by the White House in the feeble hope that it would all blow over. Hardly. The phenomenon went into overdrive with the healthcare debate that summer.

The response by Obama and Company was to paint millions of Americans as racists and bigots. The fabricated stories were easily debunked, but the leftstream media rushed to them like sharks to chum. The libelous press piled on. Despite the lack of any evidence, the libel continued -- and in the place of any hard evidence, new videos appeared last week. Obama's machine created fraudulent images: one Think Progress video attacking the Tea Parties included video shot in 2006, before the Tea Party movement even existed.

Why? What was the objective in creating such divisive hate propaganda? Sowing the seeds of war.

Furthermore, Obama's Department of Justice refused to prosecute the heinous menacing of polling places on Election Day by the new Black Panther Party. They stood outside the polling places with nightsticks warning that Obama would be president. One of the panthers said that "the black man was going to win the White House no matter what." With the Black Panther brandishing night sticks and swinging them menacingly, the police were called. One of the Black Panthers and his night stick were moved. Do you think little old white ladies would want to walk past a Black Panther with a night stick? Yet the Black Panther voter intimidation case was dropped even though the case had already been won. Post-racial? No, post-American.

One brave American stood up. J. Christian Adams, a former lawyer for the Justice Department, kept the case alive. He pointed out that the "1965 Voting Rights Act protects voters from voter intimidation. You're supposed to be able to go vote without somebody with a weapon shouting racial slurs at you like these folks were doing in Philadelphia....they said, ‘You're about to be ruled by the black man, Cracker.' They called people ‘white devils.' They menaced, they tapped their baton. They tried to stop people from entering the polls." Adams charged that the Justice Department was now declining to prosecute cases if the defendants were black and the victims white, and said:

"It's the easiest case I ever had at the Justice Department. It doesn't get any easier than this. If this doesn't constitute voter intimidation, nothing will."

Christian Adams is no disgruntled DoJ employee. He was senior level, with a stellar performance record. And there was corroboration: former FEC Commissioner Hans A. von Spakovsky stated: "I can confirm a number of facts stated by Mr. Adams in his testimony before the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights about the voter intimidation lawsuit filed against the New Black Panther Party and several individual defendants." Civil Rights Division Attorney Karl Bowers agreed: "In my experience, there was a pervasive culture in the Civil Rights Division and within the Voting Section of apathy, and in some cases outright hostility, towards race-neutral enforcement of voting-rights laws among large segments of career attorneys.

The racist war machine went into high gear again when the NAACP adopted a libelous resolution condemning "racist elements" in the Tea Party movement. They called on the movement's leaders to repudiate bigotry, despite cries from Tea Party members across the country that the "resolution" was just a "political ploy." It was worse than that. It was a declaration of war against good, decent people. A missile at the heart of American unity, subversion to melt the melting pot.

I have spoken at many a Tea Party event and there is no finer, more decent group of patriotic Americans in the country.

Stealing a page from the NAACP, unindicted co-conspirator the Council on American-Islamic Relations (CAIR) calls itself a civil rights group. That's like Al-Qaeda calling itself a human rights organization. Co-opting the fallacious "victim" playbook, the offensive hate sponsors and supremacist groups came scurrying out of their rat holes. The Islamic supremacists were gleeful and joined the lynch mob. CAIR backed the vile NAACP resolution on Tea Party Racism. Divide and conquer. Blacks have been the slaves in the Islamic world for centuries: in Arabic the word for black and for slave are the same: abeed. Slavery still continues today in some Muslim countries, but no one speaks of it because it is against the sharia to insult Islam. (Whether or not it's true is irrelevant. Just shut up and dig, kuffar.)

Predator Louis Farrakhan joined in this malevolent campaign when he sent a three-page letter along with two books to the heads of sixteen Jewish organizations. In it, he charges Jews with being "anti-Black: and demands reparations -- in the spirit of making amends for the injustices Jews have supposedly done to Blacks.

Farrakhan's idea of amends is another six million Jews to the pyre.

These are the leading insurgents in the war against America. The objective is to pit American against American. The Post-American president is sowing the seeds of hate and racism, creating divides that never existed before his presidency.

Nothing is static. Everything is fluid, and where this is leading is not going to be pretty.

I've worked with Public Radio people and commercial radio people for many years.

Some of the air people on both sides of the aisle are into it just because they like radio or they like money or they like their own voices and their own egos. For these folks, ideas are just something you pretend to have to advance your career or to get in good with those who have money and power.

But a moderate percentage are there because they truly _believe_ in something.

Of those who believe, many on the Public Radio side actually believe in the holiness of "democracy," and the moral good of "one world" and like beliefs that have evolved out of (but are not identical to) real liberalism.

And the believers on the other side commonly put emphasis on a narrow set of values derived from conservatism, that mostly revolve around keeping what one earns and abjuring collective solutions (though, owned as they are by the money-men, they blithely ignore real conservatism's rejection of "free trade" and aggressive wars).

But is NPR "fair and balanced"?

On many issues, including the ones that the phony talking heads get all excited about -- like what some Washington flunky said to "outrage" some interest group, or whether or not smiling liar number 1 should be elected instead of smiling liar number 2 -- they probably really do try to be fair. After all, they are playing to a slightly educated audience, unlike Fox News.

But when it comes to issues that the ethnically distinct money-men passionately care about, like whether the European race deserves to have a country of its own anywhere on Earth, or whether Kevin MacDonald should be allowed to continue to teach and publish, NPR will seldom give a voice to the side they want us to hate.

With every good wish,

Kevin Alfred Strom.

They were NEVER the original inhabitants. The first time they stole the land was when Pharaoh expelled every single one of them.

It seems the Children of Abraham, who were employed in Pharaoh's civic service, had been running an illegal grain trading operation. Seven year's worth of missing grain is bound to get noticed eventually.

Pharaoh was, understandably, p*ssed and formed the first Securities and Trading Board immediately after firing every non-Egyptian in Government.

The Tribe of Moses wandered for forty years before discovering a land of milk and honey.

Milk and honey are both domesticated crops. They need an existing civilization to grow. The locals were slaughtered for their lands and belongings by the Chosen. Free honey is the sweetest.

"Hey, we didn't WANT to do it, God told us to!" was the official line and it remains so to this day.

It's in the Bible. Check it out.

The most recent statistics show that over ninety percent of today's Jewish people do not have any Semitic background whatever. They are NOT descendants of anyone who lived anywhere in the middle east 2000 years ago.

I thought that the source of the power would be a non-polluting kind of thing. We get energy from the moon in the form of Ocean tides, and this differential gravity is what powers our Geo-thermal. If you want to get overly technical it is gravity, and the sun's light that power everything.
Nuclear is the only exception to the rule and eventually we could exhaust the supply of U-238, then no more nuclear.
Toss those concepts into the mix and it could get interesting.

The fascistas will fan the flames of racism if it advances their assimilation of the USA government.

I knew Obama was one of you way back when. That's why I voted for Cynthia McKinney. (Well, besides she being a babe and all)

I have three sets of detailed plans here which I bought back in the early 1970's.One of them is about using a govt surplus DC electric motor in a VW beetle car.The other one is about installing a three cylinder Yakusa (sompin like dat) diesel engine in a Pinto car, 125 MPG it says.The other one is about building a double compound compressed air engine for a weird looking home built bicycle.

Build your own electric cars.Street legal golf carts are available too.

William Jeanes also said diesel engines run just fine on natural (LPG) gas.I have known that for over sixty years.In World War Two a lot of taxi cabs were running on coal.They had a device to convert coal to gas.Back around 1974, Cadillac experimented with a coal burning engine.

Levelised cost

Since a solar power plant does not use any fuel, the cost consists mostly of capital cost with minor operational and maintenance cost. If the lifetime of the plant and the interest rate is known, then the cost per kWh can be calculated. This is called the levelised energy cost.

The first step in the calculation is to determine the investment for the production of 1 kWh in a year. Example, the fact sheet of the Andasol 1 project shows a total investment of 310 million euros for a production of 179 GWh a year. Since 179 GWh is 179 million kWh, the investment per kWh a year production is 310 / 179 = 1.73 euro. Another example is Cloncurry solar power station in Australia. It is planned to produce 30 million kWh a year for an investment of 31 million Australian dollars. So, if this is achieved in reality, the cost would be 1.03 Australian dollar for the production of 1 kWh in a year. This would be significantly cheaper than Andasol 1, which can partially be explained by the higher radiation in Cloncurry over Spain. The investment per kwh cost for one year should not be confused with the cost per kwh over the complete lifetime of such a plant.

In most cases the capacity is specified for a power plant (for instance Andasol 1 has a capacity of 50MW). This number is not suitable for comparison, because the capacity factor can differ. If a solar power plant has heat storage, then it can also produce output after sunset, but that will not change the capacity factor, it simply displaces the output. The average capacity factor for a solar power plant, which is a function of tracking, shading and location, is about 20%, meaning that a 50MW capacity power plant will typically provide a yearly output of 50 MW ï¿½ 24 hrs ï¿½ 365 days ï¿½ 20% = 87,600 MWh/year, or 87.6 GWh/yr.

Although the investment for one kWh year production is suitable for comparing the price of different solar power plants, it doesn't give the price per kWh yet. The way of financing has a great influence on the final price. If the technology is proven, an interest rate of 7%[69] should be possible. However, for a new technology investors want a much higher rate to compensate for the higher risk. This has a significant negative effect on the price per kWh. Independent of the way of financing, there is always a linear relation between the investment per kWh production in a year and the price for 1 kWh (before adding operational and maintenance cost). In other words, if by enhancements of the technology the investments drop by 20%, then the price per kWh also drops by 20%.

If a way of financing is assumed where the money is borrowed and repaid every year, in such way that the debt and interest decreases, then the following formula can be used to calculate the division factor: (1 - (1 + interest / 100) ^ -lifetime) / (interest / 100). For a lifetime of 25 years and an interest rate of 7%, the division factor is 11.65. For example, the investment of Andasol 1 was 1.73 euro per kWh, divided by 11.65 results in a price of 0.15 euro per kWh. If one cent operation and maintenance cost is added, then the levelized cost is 0.16 euro per kWh. Other ways of financing, different way of debt repayment, different lifetime expectation, different interest rate, may lead to a significantly different number.

If the cost per kWh may follow the inflation, then the inflation rate can be added to the interest rate. If an investor puts his money on the bank for 7%, then he is not compensated for inflation. However, if the cost per kWh is raised with inflation, then he is compensated and he can add 2% (a normal inflation rate) to his return. The Andasol 1 plant has a guaranteed feed-in tariff of 0.21 euro for 25 years. If this number is fixed, after 25 years with 2% inflation, 0.21 euro will have a value comparable with 0.13 euro now.

Finally, there is some gap between the first investment and the first production of electricity. This increases the investment with the interest over the period that the plant is not active yet. The modular solar dish (but also solar photovoltaic and wind power) have the advantage that electricity production starts after first construction.

Given the fact that solar thermal power is reliable, can deliver peak load and does not cause pollution, a price of US$0.10 per kWh[70] starts to become competitive. Although a price of US$0.06 has been claimed[71] With some operational cost a simple target is 1 dollar (or lower) investment for 1 kWh production in a year.

Tropical storm Alex disrupted some parts deliveries for Chrysler.

I wants me one of those cars/vans that runs on compressed air.That would be just the ticket for me, going to the food store, the Animal Health Products store every few months for Pro Pac dog food for doggy.Some people have scrounged up some parts and built their own compressed air powered vehicles.

Yeah, right...it's not like Bush didn't create any division. The only reason your boy Obama got in was solely due to people being pissed at the division Bush created.

 As the dust settles and the sounds of battle grow silent one old fool still attempts to make himself heard when all else has failed.
Yes the great Krypsis is still out there blowing hot air everywhere and making an even bigger fool of himself defending a pair of SE Asia's more despicable characters.

But wait. Lets take a close look at this Krypsis persona. Based in Australia according to him and indeed when he first started posting did adopt a far more reasonable stance than the spluttering fool we now see.

A wiser person than I could indeed believe that perhaps the Krypsis persona was indeed created by someone more logical and saner than the present incumbant. Perhaps it was started by someone like Chuckles and when the heat of battle got too much Chuckles handed it over to Pornographer Kramer to carry on his sad defence of the indefencible.

Seems that that's all that the Krypsis persona does these days , post unproven hearsay of Pornographer Kramers adventures or splutter and bubble about his heroic exploits.

What say you???

That's as sick as when you were blaming the dog for the cyclone of farts during last Thanksgiving's dinner.

In reality, you killed a bottle of Jack Daniels last night and passed out on the couch. You wake up wet in the weewee area this morning and refuse to accept responsibility for what you did in your sleep. Blame the dog.

Stop victimizing a defenseless creature and get help for your problem.

Yup, I've seen it more than once. Too bad it doesn't matter now because change we wanted and by god - change we have got. We just have to hope that he doesn't implement so much crap that it can't be uncrapped when he leaves. 'Some' people say he's staying no matter what, but that's a post for another day I guess. ;-)

When questioned recently about his attacks and harassment of other posters up to be nothing more than a troll.

If you can find me a GTK ntp synchronizer I'll be glad to install it. I am using Puppy Linux v4.20.

There's more obfuscation than truth being told, and the commonality is mainstream faith-based policy of simply never policing their own kind (especially of those in public funded positions of authority).

All you have to do is replace President BHO with most any Republican and this nifty reply of yours could be re-utilized over and over.
Such a deal, and I assume that you're either Jewish or born-again as pro-Semite to boot.

Agreed. They suffer their own kind of group think. The fact it is slightly less delusional than FOX news doesnt mean it has the truth.

As for a white country, there is my neck of Ozark woods, north of I-40 in Arkansas. Too steep for agribusiness, it is still family farms. Owned by white people. 99% according to the school report.
http://normessasweb.uark.edu/schoolperformance/School/School.php Get out an atlas and look up the hill towns- Alpina, Bee Branch, Clinton, Deer, Eureka Springs, Flippin, Greer's Ferry, Heber Springs....

REPEATEDLY, you see ZERO rates of violence. Dropout rates in the single digits, graduation rates over 90%, attendance at 95%. with less than 1% minorities. You still see rebel flag decals on the window behind the gun rack in the pickups or on flagpoles in the yard. (Which is curious cause these NW Arkansas hillbillies didnt have slaves and seceded from the Confederate govt in Little Rock)

If you want a white nation, this is pretty close, altho they are also 1/2 Cherokee. But we all get along. The area was settled early in the 19th century by Scots & Irish, who knew a thing or two about white aristocracy dispossessing people. so when the Trail of Tears came thru, lotsa Cherokee were taken in... to the gene pool.

Others say it is Nazi (Fascist).

$500,000 per job, and that isn't how much the employee makes. That means it isn't a job it's a government welfare plan.

A job costs me nothing and hires an employee to make money for a business. Instead of this, we got the Obama idea where the Business is making money by creating jobs for government to buy.

The company didn't create a product for consumers, it created a product for government to buy.

That's hilarious when one realises that it's coming from trolls who have infested sct and rec.knives for years before I ever came onto the scene!
In fact, I came in as rec.knives was in its death throes and sct already under with the weight of posts from you trolls!

I needn't come here to show you lot up for the "liars and trolls that you are" since you do a pretty good job of it yourselves.

The irony of it is lost on you fools!

wrong if you think Cuhu talks about shortwave radio.

Also, you may have missed my post here on the QSL thread about my QSLs

Say Hey Stevie:

Such a pity that you never see any government pension check. Guess you'll just have to get by on your wife's income from her rental property. Just can't win for losing Stevie.

Stevie "might" not get any government pension cheque and I definitely won't. The Aussie government doesn't pay pensions to people who have managed to put away sufficient funds over their working lives to take care of themselves in old age. Quite obviously you didn't manage to do that! That's why you need to live in a place like Thailand, so you can eke a living on what scraps the government give you! Shame is you tried to extend your finances by going into the "people smuggling" trade. That's all gone belly up so I expect you'll be rummaging round in trash cans soon.

We don't have a rental property. We have another house, the one we used to live in before we bought this one, but we don't let it out. Too much hassle and anyway, I need the garage space to store my cars.

> Just can't win for losing Stevie.

But you seem to manage to lose all the time. You see Steve Kramer everywhere. He's like a ghost haunting you! Funny to watch but tragic too! So obsessed, so paranoid! What a miserable life you must be leading! Do you check behind doors every time you enter a room Bob? Afraid Steve might be hiding behind the door? Better have a look in the closet too! Why not under those bushes in your yard! Don't forget the roof space too! You never know, he might be waiting to pounce on you from above!

There's a downside. The moonshine clans are now into meth. But they have been leaving cause the welfare benefits in the city for their women have been so much better.

http://assetseizure.org relates to how they've been seizing land to make money rather than actually trying to control marijuana. Old hippies in tarpaper shacks can grow all the pot they want. The cops only show up if there's enuf money in it.

A few years ago, a friend got hit by a drunk on his way to a fishing hole on a gravel road in the North end of Pope county. I called the sheriff's, but they said we hadda drive down to the office in Russellville to file a report. Get this: THEY WOULD NOT SEND A SQUAD CAR. Turns out, there's a reason for a place called "Nogo". They dont go there. They also knew who the drunk was, but will not send a squad car after him, but wait for him to show in town. Which wont ever happen.

The only time you see squad cars is if they're part of a 7 unit convoy with chopper air support for a drug bust. Otherwise, we manage things.

When the tire tracks of a thief was identified, an exit visa back to CA was written in the side of his truck with 30-30 holes.

I said he was Steve as soon as he started on me. There is NO ONE that would defend ANYONE on usenet like he has and the only one he defends just happens to be....at least IMO....the biggest bullcrapper in the history of usenet. He is either The Bankok Banger himself or his homosexual lover ....not that there is anything wrong with that. ;-) But it is one or the other, there is no in between for me. He can say whatever he wants, that is what I think and no one is going to change my mind about it. It's Steve or his lover and that's that. And I know which one it is...lol...sad.

There are so many holes in his story. You guys are wasting your time with an idiot like that, he is mental and needs help and chooses not to get it or this is where he lives out his fantasy life. Yeah, we all just keep another house around to store all our extra cars...lol...can you say "bullshit"? How does he get them upstairs or in the basement? I bet he'd say he has a one level...lol.

I'd love to have a "sit down" with someone like this, it would be fascinating. Yeah right, seventy something years old blah blah blah - oh quit it. ;-) And please, no one quote him if you respond because if you do I will just quickly scroll past your post also.

But is MEANS TESTED. Just shows how much YOU know from your residence, the residence in which you live, isn't counted until you reach a certain level of value. Our current house exceeds this level anyway but a second house wipes all possibility of a government pension.

4 car Garage in the backyard. Don't want to rent the place as I'd need to rent a small factory or the like to store my cars then, or worse, sell them. Better to keep the house and let family use it as needs arise. My son lived there until recently when he bought his own house.
Helped him save by not having to pay rent.

Did you know that the Black Panthers started in Oakland?
Did you know that on one night, in 1930, 500 were inducted into the clan (KKK) in Oakland?
If you were black in Oakland, and weren't a Panther, you were stupid.

SALT LAKE CITY, July 16, 2010
2 Utah State Workers ID'd in Immigrant List Flap
Officials: People With "Strong Political Opinions" Accessed Confidential
Data to Create List of Purported Illegals
(AP) Utah officials said Friday they have identified at least two state workers who apparently accessed confidential documents to create a list of 1,300 purported illegal immigrants that was mailed to law enforcement officials and the news media.

Gov. Gary Herbert said the employees work for the Department of Workforce Services, which administers some public aid benefits. The employees have been placed on administrative leave.

"It was a very small group. The people identified certainly have some strong political opinions and seem to be frustrated around some of the issues around immigration," said Kristen Cox, executive director for the department.

Newspapers and government officials started receiving the list of names and personal information this week, creating widespread fear in the Hispanic community. The anonymous mailing demands that those on the list be deported, although some named have said they are in the country legally.

The Utah attorney general's office also will investigate and decide whether to file charges.

Intentionally releasing a private record in Utah is a misdemeanor punishable by up to six months in jail and a $1,000 fine. If someone stole such a record, it could be prosecuted as a felony with a penalty punishable by up to five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

Herbert said accessing the list and distributing to federal immigration authorities could also be a violation of federal law.

The list contains Social Security numbers, birth dates, workplaces, addresses and phone numbers. Names of children are included, along with due dates of pregnant women.

Cox said most of the people on the list are there because their children are receiving benefits.

The governor's office has said it will give the information it has uncovered to the state attorney general's office by Monday. Cox said there may be one or two more people implicated in the leak of the names, but she's confident that the core group that is responsible has been identified.

Officials continued investigating Friday, even though state employees usually have the day off as part of the state's four-day workweek to cut energy costs.

The investigation comes as Herbert, a Republican, prepares to host a public immigration summit Tuesday. Herbert has said he will sign an immigration bill into law next year if he's still in office, but it's unclear how closely that bill might mirror one lawmakers recently passed in Arizona.

Arizona's law, which takes effect July 29, directs police enforcing other laws to determine a suspect's immigration status if there is reason to believe the person is in the U.S. illegally. The Obama administration has sued Arizona to throw out the law and keep other states from copying it.

"This tactic by these rogue employees to go out and to single out individuals and their families, in some cases falsely accusing people of an illegal status, is in fact deplorable," Herbert said.

You have now said that the guy posting from Thailand was Kramer
You have now said that the guy posting from Australia was Kramer
You have said that MANY different posters were Kramer

If Kramer was really deported, as 'you' (and only you) say he was, he couldn't be posting from Thailand. They wouldn't let him in.

If he was really deported, as 'you' (and only you) say he was, he couldn't be posting from Australia, They wouldn't let him in.

The ONLY country that would admit its own citizen deported from another country would be the USA.

So let's take a vote. Which one of YOU is really Kramer, posting as a troll, just to keep your names showing up? It can't be the guy in Thailand. It can't be the guy in Australia. It has to be someone posting from the US.

I'm voting for KOP. Just because I like his pink dress. It matches the Fetal Alcohol Syndrome features of his face.

Oz pension slip up? I don't think I made a slip up of any kind. You lot, on the other hand, have made an awful lot of false assumptions based on the US system of pensions. If you recall, I am in Australia, US rules do not apply. Have a look at the Australian government website for yourselves if you don't believe me.

http://www.centrelink.gov.au/internet/internet.nsf/payments/age_pension.htm

If your literacy skills are up to the task, also have a look at what are deemed assessable assets. Even the family car is included! I have a total of 6 registered in my name and one in the name of my wife.

I am so far off eligibility for any federal pension, I have never bothered to look at the rates and rules until just a few moments ago.

You trolls NEED your pensions to compensate for your fiscal imprudence during your working lives. I have never even considered the government aged pension scheme as I have managed my own finances more than adequately.

First of all, take your "Homeland" and shove it. We don't need any new names. This dirt is Daveland.

Second, the criminal gangs are more in Juarez and Tijuana. There was a recent flareup near Nogales, but that could've been an anomaly. Personally, I fear the federal agents more than I fear the Mexicans.

Doggy has another appointment at Animal Medical Center next Monday at 10:30 A. M.

Dr.Troy Majure, DVM, was out of town last week, he will be there, according to the woman on the phone.He knows his stuff, I want him to examine my doggy.Those wimmin DVM's over there, Clare La Garde, Beth Boyd, and Kelli Ricchetti, I don't think they are too swuft about thingys that are ailing dogs.

I'm inclined to agree with you. We know that he's a sicko. We know that he feels that the world is always picking on him. We know that he always blames everyone else for his problems. We know that he feels incredibly impotent and needs to pose with guns and threaten people to make him feel more like a man. Yes... I can see him has the next one to run amoke in a schoolyard or shopping mall, shooting women and children while laughing maniacally.

Even Kramer wouldn't give you any money for business. Try asking at HoodSport and Dive Shop. They like you. Bwahahahahahahahahahaha! I just read all about that debacle! So they even removed all photos of you from their website too, eh? You must be a popular figure there.

Can anyone think of one good reason to give Scott Koplin money for a business venture? A man who hasn't been able to hold a job for more than three consecutive days?

Scott, you must be desperate. Didn't your welfare checks and food stamps arrive on time?

The Tax Tsunami On The Horizon

Fiscal Policy: Many voters are looking forward to 2011, hoping a new Congress will put the country back on the right track. But unless something's done soon, the new year will also come with a raft of tax hikes — including a return of the death tax — that will be real killers.

Through the end of this year, the federal estate tax rate is zero — thanks to the package of broad-based tax cuts that President Bush pushed through to get the economy going earlier in the decade.

But as of midnight Dec. 31, the death tax returns — at a rate of 55% on estates of $1 million or more. The effect this will have on hospital life-support systems is already a matter of conjecture.

Resurrection of the death tax, however, isn't the only tax problem that will be ushered in Jan. 1. Many other cuts from the Bush administration are set to disappear and a new set of taxes will materialize. And it's not just the rich who will pay.

The lowest bracket for the personal income tax, for instance, moves up 50% — to 15% from 10%. The next lowest bracket — 25% — will rise to 28%, and the old 28% bracket will be 31%. At the higher end, the 33% bracket is pushed to 36% and the 35% bracket becomes 39.6%.

But the damage doesn't stop there.

The marriage penalty also makes a comeback, and the capital gains tax will jump 33% — to 20% from 15%. The tax on dividends will go all the way from 15% to 39.6% — a 164% increase.

Both the cap-gains and dividend taxes will go up further in 2013 as the health care reform adds a 3.8% Medicare levy for individuals making more than $200,000 a year and joint filers making more than $250,000. Other tax hikes include: halving the child tax credit to $500 from $1,000 and fixing the standard deduction for couples at the same level as it is for single filers.

Letting the Bush cuts expire will cost taxpayers $115 billion next year alone, according to the Congressional Budget Office, and $2.6 trillion through 2020.

But even more tax headaches lie ahead. This "second wave" of hikes, as Americans for Tax Reform puts it, are designed to pay for ObamaCare and include:

The Medicine Cabinet Tax. Americans, says ATR, "will no longer be able to use health savings account, flexible spending account, or health reimbursement pretax dollars to purchase nonprescription, over-the-counter medicines (except insulin)."

The HSA Withdrawal Tax Hike. "This provision of ObamaCare," according to ATR, "increases the additional tax on nonmedical early withdrawals from an HSA from 10% to 20%, disadvantaging them relative to IRAs and other tax-advantaged accounts, which remain at 10%."

Brand Name Drug Tax. Makers and importers of brand-name drugs will be liable for a tax of $2.5 billion in 2011. The tax goes to $3 billion a year from 2012 to 2016, then $3.5 billion in 2017 and $4.2 billion in 2018. Beginning in 2019 it falls to $2.8 billion and stays there. And who pays the new drug tax? Patients, in the form of higher prices.

Economic Substance Doctrine. ATR reports that "The IRS is now empowered to disallow perfectly legal tax deductions and maneuvers merely because it judges that the deduction or action lacks 'economic substance.'"

A third and final (for now) wave, says ATR, consists of the alternative minimum tax's widening net, tax hikes on employers and the loss of deductions for tuition:

• The Tax Policy Center, no right-wing group, says that the failure to index the AMT will subject 28.5 million families to the tax when they file next year, up from 4 million this year.

• "Small businesses can normally expense (rather than slowly deduct, or 'depreciate') equipment purchases up to $250,000," says ATR. "This will be cut all the way down to $25,000. Larger businesses can expense half of their purchases of equipment. In January of 2011, all of it will have to be 'depreciated.'"

• According to ATR, there are "literally scores of tax hikes on business that will take place," plus the loss of some tax credits. The research and experimentation tax credit will be the biggest loss, "but there are many, many others. Combining high marginal tax rates with the loss of this tax relief will cost jobs."

• The deduction for tuition and fees will no longer be available and there will be limits placed on education tax credits. Teachers won't be able to deduct their classroom expenses and employer-provided educational aid will be restricted. Thousands of families will no longer be allowed to deduct student loan interest.

Then there's the tax on Americans who decline to buy health care insurance (the tax the administration initially said wasn't a tax but now argues in court that it is) plus a 3.8% Medicare tax beginning in 2013 on profits made in real estate transactions by wealthier Americans.

Not all Americans may fully realize what's in store come Jan. 1. But they should have a pretty good idea by the mid-term elections, and members of Congress might take note of our latest IBD/TIPP Poll (summarized above).

Fifty-one percent of respondents favored making the Bush cuts permanent vs. 28% who didn't. Republicans were more than 4 to 1 and Independents more than 2 to 1 in favor. Only Democrats were opposed, but only by 40%-38%.

The cuts also proved popular among all income groups — despite the Democrats' oft-heard assertion that Bush merely provided "tax breaks for the wealthy." Fact is, Bush cut taxes for everyone who paid them, and the cuts helped the nation recover from a recession and the worst stock-market crash since 1929.

Maybe, just maybe, Americans remember that — and will not forget come Nov. 2.

By the way, you didn't tell us why they removed all traces of you from this dive store. Whose fault was it that cause them to be so displeased with you. Certainly not your fault. It's never your fault. It's always somebody else and you just get blamed for it. Every job. All your life.

Have you ever held a job for more than a week? Other than your own business I mean. You held that for almost a few months before it went belly up and you got fired once again. What happened there, Pinkie? Whose fault was that? An apprentice? You didn't mention anything about an apprentice in the archives. It was just you. YOU. YOU BLEW IT. All by yourself.

I doubt if "Stevie" has been checking out the welfare system of Australia because it would be of no benefit to him as a US citizen. I thought you would have enough nous to realise that but the grog must have seeped into the innermost depths of your brain!
The only way he could get to retire in Australia is as a self funded retiree thus would have no need for the Australian welfare system. Even as a self funded retiree, the quota system would put him well out of contention.

Judging from the number of recently published magazine articles and photos found on the Internet, I doubt that he's even thinking about retirement.

The trolls just need to make noise. As one poster from some newsgroup said; 'Like a group of monkeys, chattering endlessly and throwing shit in every direction.' It seems a good simile.

You've just proven you had nothing whatsoever to do with interns, no experience teaching and you've quite obviously never served in the Gulf. If an "intern" gets it all wrong, he FAILS and never gets to a situation where he could get "his head blown clean off in the Gulf" or anywhere else for that matter. Doesn't say anything positive about your teaching skills or, should I say, the lack thereof! What you've written, Scott, serves only to show how little you connect with the real world.

Only "old people" or "sick people" retire. The rest of us keep on working until we "shuffle off"! Life is too good to take a back seat and wait for the grim reaper. Scott, on the other hand, has no choice as he "can't work". Something to do with a disconnect between his brain and reality! He is in "enforced retirement", a truly sad situation that I hope I never encounter!

ARLP029 Propagation de K7RA

Sunspot activity increased recently, although it is foolish to call this a trend because solar activity has great variability. Sunspot group 1087 was visible for 13 days over July 9-21. In millionths of a solar hemisphere, its size was 30, 100, 120, 130, 70, 100, 60, 50, 20, 10, 10, 10, and 10. On July 19 new sunspot group 1089 appeared over the eastern horizon, with a relative size of 130, 150, 310 and 240 for July 19-22.

Predicted solar flux for July 23-25 is 88, 85 on July 26-30, and 83 on July 31. This is fairly strong, considering that the average daily solar flux for each of the past four weeks was 73.9, 72.8, 79.2 and 80.6. There is a small predicted rise in geomagnetic activity, with a predicted planetary A index from July 23-31 of 10, 10, 8, 8, 10, 7, 7, 5 and 5.

Geophysical Institute Prague predicts unsettled conditions on July 23, quiet to unsettled July 24, unsettled July 25-26, unsettled to active July 27, and unsettled July 28-29.

Perhaps another sign of a quiet sun, which includes a weakening solar wind, is the collapse of the Earth's thermosphere. Marcia Stockton, NU6N, who lives off the grid on a wilderness ranch northeast of Bakersfield, California at elevation 4,500 feet, shared with us an interesting article from NASA. Titled "A Puzzling Collapse of Earth's Upper Atmosphere", you can read it at http://tinyurl.com/26mo68u.

Kurt Kochendarfer, KE7KUS of Phoenix, Arizona sent in a report last week just a few hours late for bulletin ARLP028. He reports, "The evenings of 11 and 12 July I was working 20m PSK-31 around 14.070 and saw strong openings into central European Russia from my QTH in Phoenix, AZ which began around 0330Z and lasted approximately an hour on each night. With a minimal antenna setup (275 foot long horizontal loop mounted on top a block fence up about 6 feet) and 50W I worked UR8MH, UA3PT, RZ3DC, and RA3FO in a period of 20 minutes beginning at 0340Z on 11 July. Numerous other Russian and Ukrainian stations were heard, but I was unsuccessful breaking through the mini-pileups. This was a real treat, as I usually have a hard time working that far east in Europe with my antenna setup".

"I suspect the gray-line may have had something to do with the propagation, and it made for an enjoyable couple of hours to add some new European DX to the logbook. Summer evening DX on 20m has been relatively good here in Phoenix, of late as well. In the last month I've had success working FO8RZ in Tahiti, and heard a number of South Pacific stations from New Caledonia all the way to central Australia".

"While the solar numbers aren't anything remarkable, the relatively quiet conditions combined with my loop antenna have made for lots of new contacts in the logbook".

Thanks, Kurt. That low antenna sounds like a good NVIS aerial for 75-80 meters. NVIS, for those who don't know, stands for Near Vertical Incidence Skywave. The concept involves an antenna close to the ground with a high angle of radiation. That is supposed to provide better regional coverage on the low bands than a low-angle radiator does because the radiation going up refracts back to a more immediate area. Assuming that 1005 divided by MHz is a good formula for calculating dimensions of a full-wave loop, then the reciprocal suggests a frequency of 3.655 MHz.

Mike Majority, N4VBV of Sumter, South Carolina mentions that beacons on the ten meter band are useful for detecting openings, even when no live hams are on the air. His QRZ.com page at http://www.qrz.com/db/n4vbv gives some beacon info and resources, and he suggests W5JO as a good source of data. W5JO has a beacon list for 10 meters at http://www.qsl.net/wj5o/bcn.htm. It is also worth mentioning the Northern California DX Foundation and their sophisticated networks of beacons on 20, 17, 15, 12 and 10 meters. See info on their web site at http://www.ncdxf.org/beacon/intro.html.

Jim Fenstermaker, K9JF lives in the Ballard neighborhood in Seattle, but has a station in Vancouver, Washington (not to be confused with the VE7 Vancouver) near Portland, Oregon. He writes, "The opening on 20 on Saturday evening and Sunday morning was fantastic during the IARU Contest, the best I have seen for many years. By 0000Z on Saturday, I worked one (1) WRTC station and in the evening I was able to add another 37 or so. Overall, my low power entry totaled 953 Q's. I operated from the Vancouver QTH which allowed for the antennas to play and the neighbors to be spared from large amounts of RF in their stereos. But, all the locals worked stations over me as they were high power entries. I now have the view that both QRP and Low Power is not for sissies. And, I have not sat in the chair for 24 straight hours for years either".

Robert Elek, W3HKK of Johnstown, Ohio writes this about six meter signals last weekend: "During this weekend's VHF Test, I noticed numerous bursts of signals in the S-5 range, about a half syllable long, and then the signal was gone or just tickling the noise level at S1. It happened a few dozen times. Am I hearing meteor burst propagation or momentary ducting, or??"

"I also heard numerous weak signals from 100-500 miles out that would slowly build up to S2 (Q5) for a few minutes and then fade down into the noise. This happened over and over with the same station, typically around 8-10 am. What is the most likely cause of that?"

"Test conditions were punk with only a couple of signals from CO, TX, etc, and a few from around 300-400 miles out but very weak. Most were from Ohio about 50-150 miles away".

Don't forget to check the latest issue of WorldRadio magazine, free online on the twentieth of each month. Each issue has a propagation column from Carl Luetzelschwab, K9LA, and this month Carl also has an article noting the passing of Bob Brown, NM7M. Read it at http://www.worldradiomagazine.com/. In Carl's column in the current issue (August 2010) he reviews the N6BV Propagation Predictions.

Sunspot numbers for July 15 through 21 were 15, 17, 13, 12, 25, 32, and 38 with a mean of 21.7. 10.7 cm flux was 75.9, 76.6, 78.7, 76.9, 79.8, 87 and 89.1 with a mean of 80.6. Estimated planetary A indices were 10, 4, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 5 with a mean of 4.7. Estimated mid-latitude A indices were 10, 2, 1, 2, 2, 3 and 3 with a mean of 3.3.

Thanks for those links. That was right when I was getting into the hobby pretty good and a friend of mine had told me of Bill's shows on SW. I later got his book, a great read BTW. I remember a bunch of us half joking and half serious saying "this guy is going to wear out his welcome here on planet earth." I was shocked when I heard what happened but then it basically confirmed my views on a couple of things.

His boy was on SW not too long ago because I heard him, not there anymore.:-(I'll definitely looking for that video when it comes out.

How about this one.
http://img694.imageshack.us/i/scottgun.jpg/

It appears that he does. Every time one of the trolls posts to a group that he used to post to, several REGULAR members of that group try (unsuccessfully of course) to tell you that they prefer his truths to your lies. This seems to have happened EVERY TIME you cross posted to one of the groups while he was still posting, and still happens to this day when you cross post to the cooking newsgroup.

Yes, he really does have a big following all over the Internet, to judge by the numerous websites that either quote him, interview him, study with him, or just write about him. There seem to be plenty of photographs OF him too. None of those websites are hosted by free-hosting sites as are the ones you make.

Can we please see some sites that show us where any of you trolls are appreciated?

A "hammerhead"?? Now a white pointer might impress me but not a harmless old hammerhead. I'll bet you feel a real hero going after that People who manage their fiscal affairs appropriately have no need of lessons, free or otherwise, with respect to pensions. People like you, Scott, who can't keep a job, are the ones who need lessons. A few lessons on life skills would be quite timely in your case as well.

Pinkie??? Why would I be worried about Scott Koplin aka "Pinkie"?? It's his pink tutu that should be worrying HIM!!!Nearby schools might have a reason to be worried about Scott but I haven't a concern at all.

I don't need to give "Stevie" any wealth as he's quite wealthy enough, unlike Scott Koplin who can't keep a job and Cheesy Bob who's always too drunk to care.

Quite a few. When I removed all the troll names from the search criteria, (and it's important to do that as the trolls have been jabbering on for years,) here is what I found on the first few pages.
There were pages more but I think you get the message.

It's nice of you trolls to post a photo of him used in "Good Morning Chiang Mai" magazine. According to the net, Kramer wrote a monthly column and shot the magazine covers for that tourist mag for four years.

After looking at the various sites that either quote him, interview him, or study with him, I did a search on the names of the trolls. Nothing but them talking about Kramer. It would seem everyone talks about him.
Some, such as below, with interest. Others, such as the trolls, with envy.

I doubt that most honest NRA members are happy with the fact that you make illegal conversion kits to turn semi-auto Mini-14 rifles into full automatics, make sound suppressors, etc. Most honest NRA members would think that you give the NRA a bad name.

I think people will find quite a lot in the Scuba World archives. Just nothing about you. Now... if they were to look in the Welfare archives, the Food Stamp archives, and the Unemployment archives they would find plenty about you! Be happy with what you got.

Say Hey Stevie:

You have one of the biggest inflated egos of anyone on soc.culture.thai news group, in fact on all the user groups.
One big blow hard who has never accomplished much of anything in life.
That is because you don't have a life. Time to fade away for a few months Stevie. Return when you feel you may post something useful on this newsy group. As they say in the orient, "Rots 'O Ruck - buddy!"

Point blank range too... Blew half its head off... Do you also shoot

I was mistaken. That was someone else who had a boy that took over for a while, maybe an Anderson? I thought he was TXing from Ky. somewhere.
I'm on part eight of his video "The Hour Of Our Time" pretty good and a shame that it ended that way for him. If anyone else wants to know about how he died and skip through all the other parts....start at Part 6 - well put together video.

Wrong on two counts, Bob. Though that's not surprising, is it?
First, my name isn't Stevie.
Second, Larbgai was interested. He ASKED for this links. You are just too drunk to have noticed that fact.
Don't don't seem to get very much right, do you.
Is it because you're usually too drunk, or is it because you are too stupid?

You posted that Kramer wasn't part of the Chiang Mai Photography Club's agenda. According to ThaiVisa.com, he was their guest speaker. Their first guest speaker.

Were you lying to us Bob, or just too stupid to know the truth? Perhaps too drunk to know what is really going on around you. For all you know, Kramer might just be their next guest speaker too!

Steve - please tell me more about how you "delivered" Charles Bronson out of your store and onto the street. Then tell me about the second time<shaking my head> you had to do it before Charles Freeking Bronson knew he was dealing with the wrong guy. Man, I love that story. I'm waiting for Steve to come back in all his glory and post under his name in RRS. Remember, he doesn't do "backyard brawling".....he's going to kill you....lololol. Someone with the mindset that doesn't sweat anyone in person - you think he sweats any of you guys on usenet? Not a chance! I bet he has the finest receivers and antennas money can buy. He'll show DXAce and myself how to really dig those stations out of the mud. He can add DXMaster to his list of things he has mastered in his world travels.

If your reading skills were better than a hamster, you'd realize that none of these were freebie newspapers. Most were private web sites. People are laughing at you because of your own posts. No need for anyone to help.

I still can find anything that you've either said or has been said about you, other than when you post tearing down other people. That's pretty sad. No wonder you have to post so often.

It is interesting though that Kramer can keep you dancing, Krypsis can keep you dancing, just about ANYBODY can keep you dancing... It's that intense need you have to be recognized. If no one else recognizes you, you have to acknowledge yourself. As I said before... Sad.

Liberty Net: July 17, 2010

http://3950.net/2010/07/liberty-net-july-17-2010/

by Kevin Strom, WB4AIO

THE LIBERTY NET is one place on the radio dial where there are no government or commercial ï¿½gatekeepersï¿½ ï¿½ and itï¿½s a place where thoughtful and intelligent people are drawn ï¿½ and therefore itï¿½s one of the most informative and thought-provoking information sources anywhere.

Here are a few of this weekï¿½s topics:

ï¿½ New York governor Patterson is apparently under attack by evil forces, because heï¿½s decided to wear a ï¿½Kabballah braceletï¿½ to ward them off. (The ï¿½Kabballahï¿½ is a form of medieval Jewish witchcraft that is enjoying a renaissance among the thoughtlessly trendy.) (38 minutes)

ï¿½ Some prankster has arranged it so that if you enter ï¿½illuminatiï¿½ spelled backwards, and add dot com, into your Internet browser, you will redirected to the Web site of the National Security Agency. (42 minutes)

ï¿½ Barack Obama is not an idiot, no matter how harmful his policies appear to be to his constituency: He is the quintessential blackmailable front man for the money power, with a ï¿½minorityï¿½ cachet to provide a means to dehumanize any serious critics as ï¿½racists.ï¿½ In this role he performs brilliantly. (1 hour 9 minutes)

ï¿½ If financial uber-criminal Lloyd Blankfein and Goldman Sachs committed such frauds on the public as to justify their unprecedented half billion dollar fine ï¿½ why did no one go to jail for those crimes? (1 hour 49 minutes)

ï¿½ The Fox News phonies are using Sarah Palin to take over the Tea Party movement, but she has shown her true colors by joining the equally phony NAACPï¿½s denunciation of ï¿½racism.ï¿½ In a recent statement, Palin quoted Ronald Reagan, saying ï¿½there is no room for racism [or] anti-Semitismï¿½ in this country,ï¿½ adding ï¿½we must never go back to the racism of our past.ï¿½ The opposite is actually true: Only the recognition that the races are unequal ï¿½ and that each ought to have its own society ï¿½ can save our civilization, save our liberties, and defeat the oligarchs; and the original Tea Partiers, the Founding Fathers, would agree. (1 hour 56 minutes)

ï¿½ The Chinese now have their own financial ratings agency, and, as their increasing role as creditor to the world would cause one to expect, itï¿½s quite objective and realistic. According to the agency, the United States is rated lower than China itself, and the top-rated economies are exclusively those of White countries. (1 hour 59 minutes)

ï¿½ Are the current claims being made against Vatican Radio on ï¿½environmentalï¿½ grounds a precursor to shutting down amateur radio and dissident shortwave voices around the world? (2 hours 28 minutes)

ï¿½ Itï¿½s an ominous fact: A growing number of governments are quietly implementing ï¿½kill switchesï¿½ for the Internet, under the deceptive banner of ï¿½cybersecurity.ï¿½ (2 hours 31 minutes)

ï¿½ The oligarchs regularly use ï¿½false flagï¿½ events in order to pep up the populationï¿½s enthusiasm for their wars. The Maine, the Lusitania, Pearl Harbor, the Gulf of Tonkin incident, and 9/11 ï¿½ all were arranged (or allowed to happen) in order to deceive us. Is a new false flag event going to be used to start another war for Zionism against Iran? (3 hours 7 minutes)

Thanks to N2SAG and N2IRJ and W1WCR, you can listen to the Liberty Net every week ï¿½ on 3950 plus or minus several kHz ï¿½ every Saturday night at 10PM Eastern Time, and also via the Web. You can also download the Liberty Net right here at http://3950.net and listen in your car, at work, or wherever you like.

Why do you not question McCain's birth cert? He actually was NOT BORN in the USA! He was born of drug lords in central america!

Ya know funny boy, the Bush family contracted with AlQaeda for 9/11 so he can bomb Iraq to avenge his fathers failings. Hows that for corrosion on our tin foil hat! HAHAHAHA!

 SAD ???? What is sad is your continued defence of Pornographer Kramer and his ilk.
Are you a member of that "special circle" that think it's okay no matter how young the victims?
People like you and Pornographer Kramer deserve to be hung, drawn and quartered not merely deported.

btw. Every link you posted WAS linked to a paid advertorial, there is NOTHING about the life and times of Pornographer Kramer that anyone

I'm a member of the very special but very large circle that think you

It's always on Saturday nights -- as in tonight -- beginning at 10 PM Eastern Time; on the nearest clear frequency to 3950 kHz, plus or minus about 10 kHz.

The participants with the stronger signals are usually clearly audible all over eastern North America -- and sometimes beyond.

With my best,

Kevin, WB4AIO.

Other issues??? You mean like the link to your 'testimonial' to hollowtop.com:

"Thanks for bringing balance and harmony back into my life!"

You'll have to do better than that Steve!

Or maybe that IS the best that you can do. LOL!!!!! snigger smirk

No he doesn't. That's still one link more to him saying something good than to you. Thank about that. There are dozens more like it. Still, not

If one of them doesn't work, it's because you felt so threatened that you changed the URL. Sad that you feel the need to do that, but not surprising.

You can always go back to the original post and see the working ones.

I just started watching that last youtube link, I didn't know it was the Obama Deception video. EVERYONE should listen to what Jesse "The Body" Ventura says at the 4:00 minute mark....just like I said....there are no republicans and democrats - IT'S ALL AN ACT - he even said it is like professional wrestling and show biz....Ha! When are people going to start to understand? Sadly, when it's too late - then they will.:-(

You had a "few" beers?? A few dozen more likely! As a drinking buddy of yours, Chas must have had as many and been as drunk as you! Excessive alcohol does tend to numb memory as your posts here prove often enough!

Johnson himself has posted several times that he never drinks beer.
Strictly hard liquor for him, at a bottle a day. He's just lying to us here.

From what I read, there isn't a bar in Chiang Mai that will let him in the door. Even several restaurants have banned him from entry. There was one post about a shop called 'The Amazing Sandwich' that sold his products but wouldn't let him eat there. When I read that I almost laughed myself silly!

Oh I get it Steve. You're still here in the foolish belief that the more posts there are on Usenet that mention 'Steve Kramer' by name, the better the Google rankings! You've been looking for a job for the last 10 years and have this strange idea that one day you're going to be head-hunted by an international media company when they do an Internet search on '"award winning" photographer' and come across your name. Dream on Steve. :o)

The reality is that the name 'Steve Kramer' is associated with pornography, fraud, dishonesty, deception, criminality, cowardice, treachery, arrogance and conceit. You've only got yourself (and your psychopathic personality disorder) to blame for that Steve. grin

BTW, how are they getting on with filling those loopholes? They've had 6 years, so I guess they must be nearly finished, right? snigger

Not my problem. :o)

But you are, in some ways, correct. His name is associated with those, but only in posts made by the trolls. In posts made by others, and in numerous websites, his name seems to be OK.

You trolls appear to be getting rather desperate these days. Feeling a bit threatened because of a loss of face since you can't post any facts? Don't worry. No one believed you from the beginning. You haven't lost any followers. You didn't have any to start with! It was always just you trolls chattering and throwing your feces all over.

Typical. Blacks are always chimping out. As in Haiti, Zimbabwe, South Africa, Detroit and elsewhere, they kill and/or drive out the people who make things work and then sit around and blame Whitey when their country/city turns to $hit.

So any search on 'Steve Kramer' brings up a mix of mostly scathing posts and links to websites showing you up for the fraud that you are. grin

We're STILL waiting for YOU to post some facts to backup your preposterous claim that you are a 'highly paid photo-journalist' and that your work has been published by all the main media groups in SE Asia. Those links you posted the other day were mostly dead links, and of the ones that worked were links to websites where they had published one of your testimonials praising their products and doesn't count. Any fool can get a testimonial published on the Internet and for you to claim that it was evidence backing up your claim only shows you up AGAIN for the fool that you are. :o)

You'd know a thing or two about feces as you've been throwing it all over Usenet for about 10 years with each and every one of your posts. Apart from that, you also smell of feces, probably dating back to January 8, 2004 when Bob had you arrested and you shit your pants at the police station. We all know that you've only got the one Indian Jones outfit, and that you wear it day and night. I'd say the outfit was well overdue for a wash and that it's about time you had a shower! grin

In an e-mail from Gary Walters, station manager, Radio Saint Helena, he reports that the first batch of QSLs from the 2009 Radio Saint Helena SW broadcast are on the way. Here is part of his message:

"Me and my family have recently returned from CT [Capetown] after spending 2 months away from the island. Last week (My first week at work) before the RMS sailed to Ascension, me and Cherry (My wife) sent a stack of QSL cards to Japan. We decided to start with Japan first as we have the most reports from them. Up to this weekend we have finished with Japan and are now concentrating with reports from USA. So we are really steamrolling ahead with this project."

Moe just couldn't let go and tried to reinvent them after Shemp's death but it was kind of a flop. The last thing I ever saw with Moe was in 1968 we saw a short film with him giving safety advice.

I doubt that Kramer, who is in his 60's and runs his own company, will be needing any job interviews...

(Are you REALLY this stupid?)

Any good HR researcher would automatically remove Usenet from search criteria. (Didn't you know that?)

his lessons, his background, show his photos, discuss his classes, etc.
Quite positive stuff. Once you remove the troll droppings, what is left is a rather nice history of Kramer, his business, and his philosophy.
All that is needed to remove the troll posts. Simple Boolean operatives such as 'not' or '-' do that.

Keep on grinning and people realize you're a child shouting 'poo poo' and thinking it's so grown up. If you played this 'wash' line once, it may have carried some weight. But repeating it only lessons its value and makes people know the truth.

When I was a kid in school so many years ago, every few months the school would show a Three Stooges movie, sometimes a Little Rascals movie.I used to beg my mom for a dime so I could see the movie.Wayyyy back then, a dime was worth a lot more than what a dime is worth nowadays.

I can say from experience (at least for me) that is true. The subdivsion I was raised in was beautiful / immaculate back in the mid 60's too mid 70's. Great K through sixth grade schools within a ten minute walk from our front door. There were no black families in our subdivision - zero- nada.

One black family moved in on one side of the subdivision and then two on the other side within a years time. I guess more had moved in I didn't know of because we had one black boy in my grade, then the next year we had four in our fifth grade.

Long story short, that subdivsion in now crack alley and drug infested and the once great school I attended is covered with graffiti everywhere and wood boards where I suppose windows have been broken. I went to visit my former school not even two years ago to take some pics of the gym and hallways etc. and signed in at the desk. I explained to them the years I went to that school and that I wanted to look around and they gave me a visitors badge, I had a pretty good time. But ALL the hallways were covered with Obama drawings, like a coloring book type of thing where the kids would color inside the lines, I wondered (but didn't ask) how they got coloring books like that.

The tables had been flipped so too speak, I saw two white girls and one white boy in that entire school. They had one white teacher that spoke to me (though many black teachers saw me walking around) in the hallway and I told her where we had lived and when I went to school there and she kind of shook her head and said "I can't even imagine it." Kind of says it all. Our house was sold to a white family who lived there for three years and since then no one has actually bought it and a group owns it and rents it out I guess. I found that out on the auditors search page. Sad.

 Snapping pornography for grubby old men can hardly be called a profession let alone having a company to run it.
Some dirty backstreet studio like the one you were evicted from in Chiang Mai would be good enough for filth like you Steve.

Stick with me, Pinkie... This might stretch you brains a bit.
Here YOU ARE TELLING US that YOU are the sock puppets called Clair and Phil, but then you want people to believe it is Kramer??? Hello? Anyone home?? You just told us it was YOU, fool!

Then you tell us that you go into a newsgroup that was CLOSED (i.e. no one was posting there any more as you were told many times by the group's founder) and posted there? Even for you, Pinkie, that's pretty damn dumb.

Then, to top it all off, you want to know if your sock puppets are STILL VALID... in a newsgroup THAT NO LONGER EXISTS?

Even for you, Pinkie, this is really pathetic. Not even good for a laugh. I doubt the NRA would want you as a member, (except for the fact you pay membership dues and they use your money.) But then, no one wants you, do they? Not employers. Not landlords. Not even family, right?

What? Is he an old sot as well? No, he is teetotal. That makes you the ultimate "Odd Couple". Whatever he is, you aren't.
Biden is successful, Bob is a failure
Biden is rich, Bob ekes out a living in Thailand
Biden is well liked, Bob is hated by all around him
Biden is respected, Bob is despised Biden is intelligent, Bob is a jackass
Biden is the US Vice President, Bob is president of nothing Biden will be offered a plum position on retirement, Bob wasn't even

Delta Albaplex meds for dog, that is what that woman vet/DVM handed me over a week and a half ago (it was a Wednesday) for my dog.She said she thinks my dog has kennel cough, my dog doesn't get near other dogs.I have been giving doggy a Heartguard tablet on the first day of every month ever since she was an eight weeks old puppy, about seven something years ago.Heartguard doesn't always work though.

This morning, before doggy and I go to the Animal Medical Center, I am first going to phone them again to make sure Troy Majure,DVM will be there.He is suppose to be there today, according to what that woman told me last week when I called about making an appointment for doggy for this morning, at 10:30 AM.

What you describe is something that happens and has happened in subdivisions/developments/communities across the culture.

"White Flight" is nothing new. In fact, it was actively cultivated by real estate brokers in communities throughout the 50's and 60's. The reason had less to do with race, and more to do with profit. Sell whites on the fear, offer them fresh properties in the suburbs, handle the sales and purchases on each end, turn around and handle the purchase of the city properties by the new class moving in. Fortunes were made.

That said, the new class need not be black to lower the standard of living in a community. Two of the communities I grew up in are now run down, lower end communities. And race is not involved. Both were new construction, higher end, communities when we moved in. Today, in the later one (where we moved in in the late 60's,) home prices have fallen, the state of repair is poor, and 30% of homes have been declared unfit for habitation.

Time is a bitch. And it levels all playing fields.

The previous community, into which we moved in '55, are now lower end, now starter homes, though still nice homes as a whole, and, again, racial components are not involved.

The phenomenon is driven by a lot of things. One is, that the monied are often driven by new construction, fresher locales, and distance from the madding crowd. While lower end buyers must buy within their budget, or rent. That means existing, older homes, from which the monied have moved for newer environs.

Race need not apply.

Now, there were blacks moving into the second community where I grew up. And there was considerable noise about them. But the unrecognized reality was that their homes were better maintained and landscaped, and they often had nicer, if not more interesting, cars in the garage. All of which may have been motivated by an intent to avoid falling into stereotype. Without the over-and-above, they would have fit right in to the existing environment without a hitch.

But these were not people who were put into these homes by 'block busting commitees.' They bought, and mortgaged, their homes themselves, based on their own qualifications. Blockbuster homes were often bought by the committee, and then spun to the occupants with assistance to those who could not otherwise afford to live in the neighborhood. That's what led to the stereotype.

Even in those cases, the problems were not with blacks moving into the homes, but with the committees putting them into homes that they could not rightly afford, and couldn't maintain.

Now, your communty's situation may be different than mine. Likely it is. But it's hardly a hard case of racially caused decay. Community decay dates to the Greeks and Romans. It's part of the process of evolution of a community. The case is more likely the politically motivated ignorance of realties that put people into homes the couldn't afford to maintain than it is the race of the people themselves.

I need a better small walk behind lawnmower.Doggy and I just now got back home from the Animal Medical Center.Troy Majure,DVM, did a blood test on doggy, she doesn't have heart worms.She has some serious plaque on some of her right side upper teeth and her gums are inflamed/infected.Troy Majure prescribed some stronger anti-biotic (capsules) (Cephalexin 500 mg) for doggy, one capsule twice a day.He told me to call him on Friday and let him know how doggy is doing.I think I will take doggy back soon and let them do a dental thingy on doggy.

I am fixin to go check out a couple of nearby pawn shops for a better lawnmower, the engine on mine is acting up and those no good cheap plastic wheels are slap worn out, a new set of wheels would cost almost as much as a good pawn shop lawnmower.I could have done that on the way home with doggy, but no damn way will I go to stores and leave doggy locked up in my van by herself! especially in this hot humid weather.

Yeah, RHF is a good guy when he sticks to radio posts, but his political posts are mindlessly repetitive. Please: RADIO, it makes Nicely put Peter. In my neck of the world, the Hill District, is the so called local getto. too many years ago, it was home to the captains of industry. coal barons, steel magnets, etc. big beautiful homes, churches looking like they belonged in old europe. and, as always does, the money was lured out of the city, you can check/ read the history of the first Johnstown flood. and other places in our mountains of western PA.

the homes left behind were mostly made into many apartment set-ups.
most people living in the city, blue collar, needed to be near their work. and so it goes. max profit, little over all up keep. in a matter of a generation, the large beautiful homes and the nice locals were a slum. and so it now goes in the so called rust belt. BTW, the Hill is the Hill Street station from the old cop series. "Hill Street Blues" the main writer was an x cop from the burg.

BTW, on the way home from Indy, a bunch of us stopped to see "The Eye".
Peter, I love it! took a bunch of pix. always enjoy Chicago food too.

Drifter...

Nah, just another typical agent, employing diversionary tactics when the subject is not convenient. America is full of them, they come from all walks of life. Better go find out what Bill Cooper had to say
- the criminals don't assasinate fools, but men of real value, patriots who pose a danger to the judeo-masonic false elite. If only 5% of America would have taken heed to Bill Cooper's message, we wouldn't face the quagmire we're in today.

God rest his soul!

I can agree totally with what Peter and Drifter have written.
Communities do devolve to a point where only folks at the bottom of the economic ladder are left.
The fact that these are often African-Americans is not so much a testament to the cultural inferiority of blacks as it is a statement about how our basic economic structure is racist. Along with Gregg, of course....

MWB,

Since I was born and grew-up in Oakland, CA
"The City" has evolved from a segregated West Oakland {Black} with a Downtown China Town and the rest a mixed variety of predominately Whites to a generally dispersed community of Whites and Blacks up until I was going through High School. Then there was an Influx of South East Asians and into some neighborhoods that gradually dispersed all the Asian through-out most of the City. That was followed by Hispanics moving in, in greater numbers, and displacing the Whites and Blacks. {OMG - Black and White Flight}
The White population of Oakland has gone down; but the Black population has gone down even more; while the populations of both Hispanics and Asians are ever increasing thus displacing more and more Blacks and Whites from the City.

International Blvd running through most of East Oakland is just that; where English is a second language; and where fewer and fewer Blacks and Whites go...

the evolution of a city {society} is not required to be just or fair or equal - it just happens ~ RHF

In Houston and Dallas, they chased all the poor people out, leveled the ghettos, and installed yuppie housing for the unwashed masses who toil downtown. The suburbs then become the new "inner city".

The inner city in St Louis was likewise a home for the monied, powerful and connected. Lafayette Square was a Victorian haven for the wealthy forces that drove the development and industrialization of St Louis. Before I left, you could buy a 4 story 8 bedroom Victoran home in Lafayette Square for $8000. Sometimes less.

Well, the old homes got so much attention by the fans of period architecture, that some were buying them up at market prices, and spending $500,000 and more to return them to their native splendor.

By the time I left St Louis, Lafayette Square was a vital, very upscale community with a vibrant life, and tremendous economic and cultural holdings. Now on the National Historic Register.

http://www.lafayettesquare.org

When the area fell into disrepair, it fell into the hands of slumlords, who converted the homes into low rent flats of minimal standards of maintenance, and exploited those of limited means. Mostly a black community. Until its rennaisance. Now, it's an integrated community of significant wealth.

It wasn't as popular, then, as it is today to throw the word 'racist' around at every opportunity and for every purpose, so though there was a lot of focus on the racial component, racism itself wasn't a part of the underpinnings of the area's history or culture.

And that's the point that gets lost by those who can only call names and throw epithets....it's not a matter so much of race that brings communities to rust, as it is economics. There will always be those who have, and always be those who have not. Just as there will always be someone in every group who will aspire to power and influence...someone will always hunger to be king.

That's not racial. That's the ambition of the human species.

Glad you enjoyed the Chicago cuisine. But there's so much of it, how the hell do you walk?

Dave the suburbs remain the suburbs : They may become run down and even 'ghettoized'
-but- They will never become the 'inner city' since they are located outside the City proper.

Do you remember Nick's Snow White restaurant that used to be in Oakland? On my way to Vietnam in January 1964, I spent four days and nights in Oakland.One time some guys and myself were looking around in Oakland, we stopped off at Nick's Snow White for dinner.The guy who ran the restaurant wouldn't let us pay for our meals.

I know Nick's Snow White was torn down to make way for new construction projects in that area.Not many years ago, I emailed the Oakland main library about that restaurant.A guy at the library sent me a reply.I still have his email reply in my email inbox.

Walkin' down the street, smoggy-eyed Looking at the sky, starry-eyed Searchin' for the place, weary-eyed Crying in the night, teary-eyed

Don't you know that it's true
That for me and for you
The world is a ghetto

Don't you know that it's true
That for me and for you
The world is a ghetto

Wonder when I'll find paradise
Somewhere there's a home sweet and nice Song text taken from stlyrics.com
Wonder if I'll find happiness
Never give it up now I guess

Don't you know that it's true
That for me and for you

RADIO TRIBUTE TONIGHT TO THE LATE GREAT TERRY ANDERSON, CHAMPION OF THE BLACK WORKING-CLASS AGAINST UNFAIR IMMIGRATION COMPETITION

Many of you have responded to my blog tribute to Terry by saying that you regret that you didn't know about him until now and wish you had.

http://www.numbersusa.com/content/nusablog/beckr/july-8-2010/death-terry-anderson-radio-ho st-champion-black-americans-against-unfair-i

Well tonight, you can get a lot of feel for the man and his legacy as the final installment of the decade-long Terry Anderson Show opens the mike to dozens of us sharing stories and offering our eulogies.

9 p.m. - 11 p.m. Pacific Time
10 p.m. - midnight Rocky Mountain Time
11 p.m. - 1 a.m. Central Time
Midnight - 2 a.m. Eastern Time

You can listen to the program on your computer.

This link should bring up the live audio cast:
http://den-a.plr.liquidcompass.net/player/flash/audio_player.php?id=KRLAAM&uid=104

If that isn't working, try this one and look for the LISTEN LIVE link on the KRLA page:
http://www.krla870.com/

You can catch this on your radio from broadcast stations in Los Angeles, Phoenix and Las Vegas.

KRLA 870AM in Los Angeles and KFNX 1100 in Phoenix will carry the two hours live.

KDWN 720 in Las Vegas will carry the first Hour live (9PM-10PM), and the second hour (10PM-11PM) at midnight.

Listen later.

I'm pretty sure you will be able to listen to a recording of the show on the Terry Anderson website at:

http://www.theterryandersonshow.com/

Everybody who has worked with the show the last decade (including Terry) did so almost entirely for no pay. It was an amazing labor of love.

Here is what Michael Wolner, the producer, says on the website today about the final show:

I know how deeply Terry felt about his listeners and all of those great donors that kept the show on the air. The people Terry surrounded himself with felt as Terry did. Everyone did their best to put on a great show. Associate producer Mel missed two shows in three years. Terry's family was incredibly supportive at a great personal sacrifice and that usually goes unseen. Folks, those are my words not the family's.

Its been both a professional and personal pleasure working with Terry and Melanie all these years. I'll never stop missing him.

Michael Wolner

I will be staying up past midnight on the East Coast to get on the phone to take my part in the show. I expect to hear quite an outpouring of the raw grassroots emotions that Terry honored with his radio leadership. He understood working-class and fixed-income people of all races who feel they have lost most control of their lives because of federal immigration policies. He was one of them -- a Black small businessman in South Central Los Angeles who saw how mass immigration and unenforced immigration laws were robbing Black Americans of their wages, their jobs, their neighborhoods, their schools and their culture.

I WANTED YOU TO KNOW,

-- ROY http://www.numbersusa.com

P.S. It looks like because of the powerful, unrelenting pounding that you NumbersUSA activists and all of our allies across the country have been giving Members of Congress, there is little likelihood anymore that a blanket amnesty ("comprehensive immigration reform") will be brought up for a vote this year.

That is a tremendous victory for the public over nearly all opinion and power elites in this country. Congratulations.

But we are now faced with a much more credible threat this fall. Senate Majority Leader Harry Reid (D-Nevada) said this week that he will try to pass the DREAM Act amnesty. The pro-DREAM forces claim it will give amnesty to 2.1 million illegal aliens. That is massive. And it doesn't even include the millions of their parents and other relatives who will be able to get in line to come.

We'll be giving you specific opportunities to help win the DREAM amnesty fight, too.

The jobless rate for Blacks ages 16 and older hovered at 15.4 percent last month, according to new data from the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, nearly the same as May when Black unemployment hit an all-time high of 15.5 percent.
“The economic crisis has created an enormous hole in the American labor market with a particularly devastating impact on Black workers,” says Arlene Holt Baker, vice president of the AFL-CIO, in a UC Berkeley press release.

What is curious is the widespread silence about this damning and lamentable fact. Mr. Obama, much praised for his blackness, has probably kicked more black people out of work than any president since the very white and openly racist Democrat Woodrow Wilson [father of Liberal Fascism]. And yet … listen to the crickets.

If you're trying to sound as ridiculous as Steve Lare has for over a decade, go right ahead. Steve's even called my employers. Since I've never claimed to have a PhD, you're not hurting me. Just looking like a goofy moron.
But, that's already been perfected by Lare. And Gregg has the copyright on aggressive threats. So you clowns are a day late and a dollar short!

When will you figure out that no one here cares about your nonsense?

So get your "arse" back to whatever third world hole you're hiding in and take BushyGregg with you. We're through with him. He's all used up...

Though I hear someone's going to give him a nice radio someday...

LOL! Maroons....

After all, who else would paste pics of himself on the net with a home

Gregg is bluff and bluster. When it comes right down to it, he is a

Mike you are fanning the trolls!

How you doing Pal, you still working? How's the count, I'm in the 150's a lot.

Post some of your DXing logs over here sometime, I know the guys would love to read them and if any of the trolls have radios they could even try following them.

So what's yer point? The "jobless rate for Blacks ages 16 and older" has ALWAYS been very high, nothing new at all. It may have gone up a bit due to Bush's Depression, but the unemployment rate for EVERYONE of ALL races has gone up because of the Depression.

True statement. Blacks have -always- been underemployed since the Civil War, under either political party. So again, what's yer point?

Huh? "Kicked them out of work"? MANY people of all racial persuasions are out of work due to Bush's Great Depression. Obama has tried to remedy this with his make-work, "shovel ready" jobs.

Oh...sorry, I forgot. If Obama does nothing, you bitch. If he tries to make jobs, you -still- bitch.

Just be a man and admit that you are a racist -- whatever Obama does, in your eyes it will be wrong.

BTW, the cleaners called and said your robe and hood are ready.

Peter, ya gotta watch out for us biker types. it was a little wet, but in all a great ride. I always liked Chicago. it's come a long way from the early 60's. lots of culture, great eateries, nice people. old family friends, out side of Cicero, the Parkinsons. one of those giant tomato farms out there. eleven hundred acres plus. got to visit from child hood. they really turned me on to the city back then. as I said, great place to spend some time.

back to the subject at hand. back during my youth, Pitt and Carnegie-Tech, I worked summers at U.S.Steel and Westinghouse. this was before i realy got out, into the world. and the war. I worked with all types of people, which is a great way to start out in life. the one thing I noticed, was who came last. each people will gang up on the new guys. it could be Polish, German, English, whatever. whoever comes in to the country last will suffer the most. different people will gang up on the new guy. now, the black folk may not be new to the country, but they were new to the North. and back then they were the last. now it's Latino. and what do ya know, the blacks and the whites are screaming about the brown people. now, i can get along with anyone, even the devil himself; but I have trouble with the illegal's. I hope that doesn't make me racist. I don't believe it does. if you want to be here, do it right. get your visa, do the classes, become a citizen. pay your taxes, and learn to get along with your fellow Americans. I don't think that's too much to ask. but, please folks, don't plaster an entire race, for the sins of a few.

Cicero, huh? Then you were in a good place to pick up a little bit of SW Radio history. At 5th and Kostner is a building...it's a warehouse now...but the lazy H is still on the gable. It's the final House of Halligan, where Hallicrafters radios were born.

No, it doesn't make you racist. But that arguement has long been passed into irrelevance. If you oppose, that's the brand you will carry.

You're right. Come here legally, and the welcome mat is out.

But come here illegally, and then have the bald faced audacity to tie up traffic protesting the prosecution of these criminals, and you're likely to find that you're not as welcome as you'd hope.

We're not in the minority in these beliefs. But that's not politically correct thinking.

Well, tough shit.

Yesterday, I went to the Lowe's store, after first stopping off at the Goodwill store, of course.I bought four steel wheels seven inches diameter with ball bearing hubs and rubber tires on the wheels, $6.28 each wheel.The hubs on the new wheels are not as thick as the hubs on those cheap no good plastic (those plastic wheels are no good even when they are new) worn out plastic wheels.So, this morning I went back to Lowe's (after first stopping off at the Goodwill store, of course) and I bought some flat washers for spacers for my new wheels, five flat washers for each wheel.Those shiny brand new ball bearings lawnmower wheels make all the difference in the World.Life is a Joy again.

If I were him, between wardrobe changes, I'd phone my Congressman and demand ALL oil imports from Canada be stopped NOW. That will teach the oil producing bastards a thing or two.

Well, OK...although I don't think they 'caused' it nor do I think they wanted it to happen. They would rather be MAKING money, selling the oil rather than SPENDING money to clean it up.

The REAL question is: Why didn't they tumble to the problem sooner? It took almost a -million- gallons gone before they realized they had a leak? No pressure gauges? No flow meters? No alarms??????

P.S. Maybe owned by the Canucks, but -operated- by locals in your home state, so before you are too harsh on the Canadians, make sure you are not pissing on your own shoes! ;-)

I can actually say "I got a gal in Kalamazoo" fact I had several.
I was born and raised in Kalamazoo, and I do remember the song, not the the first time round though.
It seems the oil was spilled in Marshall Michigan, a little over 30 miles from Kalamazoo. It is headed toward Kalamazoo, there is a damn created lake that may be a good place for the to do the most cleanup.

The problem is, in America we no longer know who "we" are, so "we're" not going to take over anything.

Neither the military or its stringpullers, or the regime in Washington and its stringpullers, represent us in any significant sense.

"We" are allowed to shop, and work, and pay taxes, and vote for smiling liar number one or smiling liar number two, and send our sons and daughters to die.

But take over anything? No. We won't be allowed to do that.

With all good wishes,

Kevin Alfred Strom.

Many of the extreme Christian groups that would like to have power in the US would also like to base US law strictly on Old Testament law, which is virtually the same as Sharia law.

One positive point to that (one of very few) is that it would put insurance companies, HMO's and banks out of business completely since usury is an offense.

Now, THAT'S worth sacrificing my first born for. Better still, sacrificing my NEIGHBOUR'S first born.

Kurt Vonnegut once wondered why all the lunatic fringe politicians want to impose Old Testament values on the rest of us. Where are Christ's teachings? Where are the Beatitudes? Where is charity and forgiveness?
Where is the 'Vengeance is Mine' sayeth the Lord?

The lunatic political right is no different than any other fruitcake movement that wants to control mankind under the guise of 'God's Will'

Many will be totally shocked when the blessings of the Beatitudes are manifest. What a shock to those who believe might is right and only the strong survive.

- Is that like living under Martial Law for all non Christians?
- mike

mike, Mike. MIKE ! -aka- Mike [M II]
this newsgroups 'unofficial' "The Voice of Canada"

"Is that like living under Martial Law for all non Christians"

So only {evil} Christians impose Martial Law ?
-implying- All Christians HATE All Non-Christians

Mike [M II] - Lets have a little History Review first :

Sort of like Roman Law before Constantine for All Christians . . .

Sort of like present Islamic Sharia Law that targets all non-muslims {Infidels} including Christians, Jews, Hindus, Buddhists, native shamanism,and even new-age believers . . .

-note- Believing in Darwinism is an Apostasy under Islam and the Teaching of Darwinism is punishable under Sharia Law.
http://www.irfi.org/articles/articles_151_200/islam_and_darwinism.htm

Sort of like Mexican Law that Banished, Imprisoned and Killed Catholic Priests and Nuns for a time . . .

Sort of like Soviet Law under Stalin for Christians, Jews, Muslims and other believers . . .

Sort of like Chinese Communist Law under Mao for Christians, Jews, Muslims and other believers . . .

Sort of like NAZI Fascist Law under Hitler for Jews, some Christians and so-called non-aryans . . .

Sort of like Cuba Communist Law under Castro for Christians, Jews, Muslims and other believers . . .

Sort of like Cambodian Communist Law under Pol Pot for Christians, Jews, Muslims and other believers . . .

Martial Law is just that Martial Law :
http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Martial_Law
-meaning- Those with the 'Military Power' exercising that POWER over the powerless; by force of Arms; including warrant-less arrest and imprisonment; and subject to the penalty of death {on-the-spot summary execution}.

USA REALITY CHECK :
So in the USA Today : Martial Law would be imposed by the US Military which is Headed by Prez Obama [D] as the Commander and Chief and the Obama Administration and Executive Branch {a Democrat -Socialist- Party of the US Regime}; and the US House Headed by Nancy Pelosi [D-CA] and Controlled by a Democrat Majority; and the US Senate Headed by Harry Reid [D-NV] and Controlled by a Democrat Majority.
http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Martial_Law

Mike [M II]
* So you as a Canadian would have us believe that Prez Obama [D] would persecute non-Christians under US Martial Law.
* So you as a Canadian would have us believe that Nancy Pelosi [D] would persecute non-Christians

* So you as a Canadian would have us believe that Harry Reid [D] would persecute non-Christians under

- Many of the extreme Christian groups that would
- like to have power in the US
These 'extremeists may like to have "The Power"
-but- DO NOT [.]

Point-of-Fact : Only Prez Obama has 'The Power' to Impose Martial Law in the USA.

- would also like to base US law strictly on
- Old Testament law,

So-called Christians that base their Christianity
'strictly' on the Old Testament aren't Christian [by definition] since the words of Jesus-the-Christ are found in the New Testament -not- the old 't'.

For Christians The New Testament is the Testament of Jesus-the-Christ and the 'old-testament' lends historical context and understanding to The New Testament of Jesus-the-Christ

- which is virtually the same as Sharia law.

-nah- NO IT AIN'T [.] - You could easily find 100 Points of Sameness; and someone else could just as easily find 111 Points of Difference.

- One positive point to that (one of very few) is that
- it would put insurance companies, HMO's and
- banks out of business completely since usury
- is an offense.

So there are none of these Inventions-of-Men in Israel, or other Christian Countries, or in Islamic Nations; or for that matter in Socialist and Communist Ruled States . . .

What's up Nurk? Rec.knives too dull now you've managed to kill off all discussion over there?

You did what? Oddly enough, I see Mike Bryant is still posting. So much for your firefighting.

For spewing of drivel, one needs go no further than the trio of trolls.

So you're going to stop trolling newsgroups then? It's your mess Nurk, you're making it!

Yes, you're sorely testing people's patience, no doubt about that!

A 12" Pipe Line with a Valve every Mile; would have around 31K Gallons of 'something' between Valves.

A large Gasoline Delivery Truck can hold up to 9000 Gallons -so- an Oil Spill from a Mile of Pipeline would be about the 3.3 Trucks spilling their loads at the same time in one spot.

 Well who am I to disagree with you Krypto?
Perhaps if you gave up your slavish support of Pornographer Kramer and retired to the mighty VRD where you claim to be a tribal member the usenet would be a better place.
Kramer was done and dusted a few years ago when they deported him from Thailand. Every so often he tries to make a comeback but seldom lasts more than a couple of days before the humiliation sets in.
Even with your syncophantic devotion to him he was out of here before we even got warmed up.
Take it from me Krypto, your man is kaput..... surplus to requirements..... Dead.

He is a dead parrot.

As Pornographer Kramer fades off stage right and the dust settles here is a reminder of what Kramer was like in his heyday. Not the sad sockpuppet operator we see today.

The classic Bronson story.

When Bronson first moved to Vermont, I was working in a sporting goods store. He came in and wanted to buy a 'resident' hunting license. I refused to sell him one because he hadn't been a resident long enough to qualify, (6 months needed) and didn't have the required ID (a Vermont State ID or Driver's License.) I offered to sell him a 'non-resident' license but he refused. That license was much more expensive, of course, and as he had just purchased his Vermont home that month, (it was in all the newspapers,) 'he felt' that he was entitled to resident status.

He went to another shop, bought a resident license, got nabbed by Fish and Game (who in Vermont, check the registers often,) to the tune of $5000 and loss of license. He blamed me for turning him in, (he was simply too stupid to realize that someone of his fame can't NOT get away with anything in a small 'town' like Vermont!) came back to my store and started a fist fight, not just a shouting match.

Bronson was a scrappy son of a gun, but small, standing about 5'5" or so, and powerfully built. But in those days I was about 24 years old, teaching Kung-fu every night and fighting in tournaments on weekends. I stopped his attack, and delivered him out to the sidewalk. He came back the next day and started again. I put him outside again, telling him that if he tried again, I would call the police and have him charged with assault. He never returned to that store.

A year later I was hired away by another shop to manage the camping, scuba, and mountaineering side of their business. Bronson came in with some friends, recognized me and started mouthing off (only) again. I ignored it. Then he demanded to be shown a spear gun, telling his friends that they would use it to spear trout in the river behind his house for dinner that night. I refused to sell him one, as spear fishing for trout is illegal in Vermont. He got huffy, and demanded to see the owner. I brought out the owner, who at first was delighted to have such a star in his shop, but quickly changed his tune after listening to the man. Bronson 'insisted' that I be fired on the spot. The owner turned to me and said "OK, your fired. But first throw this idiot out of my store!

Then go get us some lunch. I'm hungry." I did both. Neither Bronson, nor his friends, ever returned to that shop. I continued to work there until I began my own business two years later.

What are you talking about? Gregg IS A LOSER!

You don't know much about getting a Ph.D, do you? I dareasy you have never seen the inside of a tertiary institution in your entire life!

> rolling around on the floor with the pigs.

Sounds like something you would do!

By the way, while we're on the subject of losers, a dossier I have in front of me states that you, Scott Koplin, were drummed out of the Marines. Seems you didn't survive boot camp! Now that makes you the BIGGEST LOSER! Seems your potential to go haywire whilst under duress was seen by Marine commanders well before you could do anyone grievous bodily harm with the weapons you would have had at your disposal.

This after all your talk about the "Gulf" as if intimating you've been on "active duty" in the Middle East! Hah!! The only gulf you've ever been anywhere near was the Gulf of Mexico and that on a fishing trip.

Now go crawl back under a rock you loser and take your sock puppet Nurk Fred with you!

5903. West Coast reception of East Coast BCB's

Has anybody on the west coast, west of of the Rockies in general terms, been able to copy any east coast powerhouse BCB's stations like WLW, KDKA, WSM, etc.? One time a few years ago I copied WLW on the car radio at 11PM, caught the ID and the program after the news. I seem to be limited now with reception from the east as I'm copying more Spanish speaking stations, either from Mexico or U.S. based stations.

By the way, is IBOC still around or did it finally die off?

But Cuhulin did write that "World War Two broke out a month later."
Sorry to say but World War Two didn't start in 1941, it started quite a bit earlier in September of 1939 but the USA wasn't involved, just watching from the sidelines. To all the other countries involved, it sure had the makings of a World War! I notice that Canada was involved from 1939.

VNO,

WLW-AM on 700 kHz at 50KW is an example of how the old Clear Channel AM/MW Radio Stations are not-so-clear channel and now only have a 'protected' broadcast zone or 750 {Air} MIles.

FCC AM Query = 137 Records for 700 kHz
http://www.fcc.gov/fcc-bin/amq?state=&call=&arn=&city=&freq=700&fre2=700&type=0&facid=&cla ss=&list=1&dist=&dlat2=&mlat2=&slat2=&NS=N&dlon2=&mlon2=&slon2=&EW=W&size=9

KDKA 1020 kHz
{FCC has 200+ Records for 1020 kHz}

WSM 650 kHz
{FCC has 136+ Records for 650 kHz}

Maybe you need a Remote Desert DXing Spot :
-Note- Do your Scouting and Set-Up during the Day and come back around Twilight to start your DXing.
-Tip- Dress for the Desert and being outdoors.
Boots & Hat + Water, etc.

In Nevada find yourself a one of those long gently
sloping valleys that seam to go on forever . . .

Drive far out into the desert, or at lease a few miles away from anything man-made.

Get on the western-side of the valley with the down ward slope facing toward the Eastern Sky.

Run an Insulated Stranded Wire along the Desert Floor for 100, 200, 500 or 1000 Feet; usually the longer the better. Point this Wire toward :
CHI ~ 70*
NYC ~ 80*
Shot-the-Middle for Due East @ 90*
ATL ~ 100*
MIA ~ 120*
{your choice}

-Tip- Use a Map and Compass to figure where
you want your Wire to run to hit your Target Area {City/State} of Reception.

Put a 4-Foot Ground Rod at the far-eastern-end and Strip an Inch or two of the Insulation from the End and Attach the Wire to the Ground Rod using a Clamp.

-Alternative- Use a 1-Watt Resistor between the end for the Wire and the Ground Rod : 220 Ohm;
330 Ohm; 470 Ohm; 620 Ohm; 750 Ohm; and 910 Ohm. Pick and choose a Resistor to see what works best for you with this Antenna at your location. -OR- Don't connect the Wire to the Ground Rod and see what you hear.

Take a 5-Gallon Jeep Can full of Water and Soak*
the Ground for about a foot or two around the Ground Rod; use all of the Water.
* Do this to the Ground each time you use
the Antenna for the Night.

At the near-western-end of the Wire Strip back
the Insulation and connect to your AM Radio
or your Car's Whip Antenna.

It is Import to "Mark" this Near-Western-End
Location very well so that you can Find "It" in the Twilight when you come back : Painted Stake, Reflectors, Piled Rocks; all three.

Some say that WWII got it's start on November 11, 1918 http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Aftermath_of_World_War_I

-but- For Americans, the American direct involvement in WWII started with the Japanese Attack on Pearl

- - What a shock to those who believe might is right

- Like Lenin, Stalin, Hitler, Mao, Pol Pot,Castro,
- Chavez etc...
- -note- not a single practicing Christian among them.

And all but for one 'Hitler'; were a collection of Liberal Progressive {Leftists} Socialist Communist Elitists; and the Masters of their Peoples and Nations.

In truth Castro is a Billionaire and Chavez is one too...

Both now own and controll Billions in Arms and Weapons as El Presidente Para La Vida of their Nations.

Sort of like Survival of the Richest Man with the Gun.

* The Might of Money {Economic Domination}
* The Might of The Gun {Military Domination} =Result= Total and Complete Domination of the Nation and the Masses : That's Communist Slavery of the Masses under a Communist Elite

Article at NYT says Gulf has long been 'nations sacrifice zone'.

What the hell do they (''they'') mean by that?

That still doesn't make the beginning of WW2 the attack on Pearl Harbour. Again, I point out that Cuhulin said that WW2 broke out a month after he was born. He mentioned nothing about the fact that WW2 broke out in September of 1939. Even YOU note that "American direct involvement in WWII started with the Japanese Attack on Pearl > Harbor. DEC 7, 1941." Ergo, the USA became involved in an existing World War!

Time to realise that there is a "world" outside US borders and it IS possible to have a World War without American involvement.

I am in the classroom right now. I was named as Kentucky's Well, then why pick on the poor Mexicans that are just trying to make enough money to keep their families alive?

The narco-terrorists are sophisticated enough to find ways around soldiers standing arm-to-arm on the border.
Counter-narcotics doesn't have to rely on blocking off border or building walls. And the statistics consistently show that communities in AZ with high amounts of illegal aliens actually have less crime. Illegals don't want police investigators snooping around!

Be careful what you wish for Mike. Another poster here used to like "rolling around with the pigs" and things didnt turn out well for him.

Now that poster only ever posts under anonymous handles and sock puppets, too ashamed to associate his own names with his posts.

Buffooning around on rec.knives is a rocky road to ruin.

Krypsis, you know what he was trying to say! In his world it did start on Dec 7th as I was also taught when I was growing up.

Now Krypsis I notice you are saying what America needs to do, what America "NEEDS" to do is get back to the way things were in the "Good Old Days" before all this Right Wing" crap has pulled America down to the state it is in now.

America is 12th in the world on corruption even England is 11th and by the time we get Obama out of office there is no telling how much further we will go down.

Liberty Net: July 24, 2010

http://3950.net/2010/07/liberty-net-july-24-2010/

by Kevin Strom, WB4AIO

WITH TOPICS ranging from the Kennedy assassination to our burgeoning police/ï¿½national securityï¿½ state, the Liberty Net maintained its free speech traditions this week, and listening to the mp3 recording of the net will provide insights that you simply canï¿½t get anywhere else.

Here are just a few of the subjects covered in this weekï¿½s recording:

ï¿½ Even as the regime in Washington attempts to centralize health care into the hands of uncaring politicians and bureaucrats, Britain is starting to decentralize its system. (13 minutes)

ï¿½ One of the items that the criminals sneaked into the ï¿½health careï¿½ bill is a requirement that, starting in 2012, all American serfs must report all of their financial transactions over $600 to their masters. Since no one is likely to obey such an onerous requirement, this ï¿½lawï¿½ can, like the tax laws, be used to put anyone the system doesnï¿½t like in prison. (18 minutes)

ï¿½ You canï¿½t call them invaders ï¿½ you canï¿½t call them illegal immigrants ï¿½ now youï¿½re supposed to call them ï¿½displaced foreign travelers.ï¿½ (20 minutes)

ï¿½ The FDIC has set up a sweetheart deal for bankers: When one bank buys up another failed bank, the banks can create ï¿½junk paperï¿½ carrying an inflated face value for the failed bankï¿½s near-worthless assets, and the taxpayers are on the hook for the full inflated value if the buyer canï¿½t make a profit when he ï¿½flipsï¿½ the paper. (32 minutes)

ï¿½ In China, they execute financial fraudsters. In America, you can steal millions and never spend a day in jail. (41 minutes)

ï¿½ Much of the IRS Code was never intended to be obeyed. It was intended to encourage massive non-compliance, either intentional or inadvertent. Then if you become an outspoken opponent of the illegal regime in Washington, they can easily put you in prison any time they like ï¿½ and ignorant, authority-worshipping juries will go along. (1 hour 33 minutes)

ï¿½ Has Glenn Beckï¿½s potential eyesight loss been induced to ï¿½keep him in lineï¿½ as a spokesman for Rupert Murdoch and the oligarchs, and

ï¿½ As America becomes more and more a police state, a whole new culture has been created among ï¿½law enforcementï¿½ careerists ï¿½ and that is not a good thing. See http://www.justicefordunkin.blogspot.com/ for just one tiny example of how this new class treats ordinary Americans. (2 hours 1 minute)

ï¿½ When Communist asset Lee Harvey Oswald took part in the successful operation that culminated on November 22, 1963, it was a great victory for those who wanted to destroy the Old America, the America of the Founders. However, the conspiratorsï¿½ efforts to blame the John Birch Society and other ï¿½rightistsï¿½ for the killing during the first few hours after the coup was an utter failure. (2 hours 44 minutes)

Remember that you can receive the Liberty Net on the nearest clear frequency to 3950 kHz every Saturday night at 10PM Eastern Time ï¿½ or listen live on the Internet via N2SAG or N2IRJ, or listen at your leisure via the mp3 files posted here at http://3950.net every week, usually on Sunday and visible in the upper right column of the site.

Once again, thanks to W1WCR for running this important and historic discussion net, and thanks also to N2IRJ for making these recordings available.

I am on the East Coast, and have the same problem in reverse.

I heard KSL once while parked at the beach in Florida, otherwise I have heard nothing West of Nebraska.

The room with the concrete floor, (one of my junk rooms, in fact, all of my rooms are junk rooms.A long time ago, back in the late 1960's or early 1970's, I enclosed my garage and I had some concrete poured onto the gravel ground.A three feet by four feet window on the front of the room with the concrete floor, I am going to remove that window and close it in with 2'' by 4' and nail some plywood over that and then I will put on some shingles to match up with the other shingles.

There is another three feet by four feet window on the back of my house.I am going to do same same there too.Then I will buy some steel flat bars and make burgler bars for all of the windows on my house.

Yeah, in fact of the business,,, I am a Busy Busy Bee.

Most Radio Advertising is Local; and your Local Congressman has seen that the FCC understands that Economic Reality of US Business.

- You should be able to get KOA 850, KSL 1150 and KOKC 1520.

None of which is on the "East Coast" and the Target AM/MW Radio Stations that he listed.

The FCC decided to destroy AM radio at night about 20 years ago.

A map? Are you sure? Unless you have a great circle map centered at your receive site you'll have better luck with a globe and a string.

Post the log of George Noory 'every 10 kHz'.

The "East Coast" and the Target AM/MW Radio Stations that he listed are around 2200 Air Miles from Las Vegas, NV.

For a 500 Foot BOG Antenna from Las Vegas, NV
these general headings :
CHI ~ 70*
NYC ~ 80*
Shoot-the-Middle for Due East @ 90*
ATL ~ 100*
MIA ~ 120*
{your choice}
Will get you 'close enough' {In-the-Zone} to Receive the Target Area/City/States

Beverage-On-the-Ground [BOG] Antenna
http://groups.google.com/group/rec.radio.shortwave/msg/734fc3323dde7474
The Beam-Width {Best Receiving Angle} is in the general direction of the Far-End and is around 60~90 Degrees.

Tuning past the dumb fat one's radio show today, he tries linking Russia's action to Obama. Whines last month about no protection of the internet, when the government responds and fixes the problem, the drug addled Ru$h has a headrush and calls it infringement on your rights.

This guy IS hypocrisy. But yet, the stupid people follow....

Showing his stupidity yet again, he complains that the new hybrid car can only go 40 miles. He is dumber then dirt itself. Dirt on drugs

Radio is about serving the public, and making a little money on the side. You cannot do good radio if all you care about is maximizing profits. Companies shouldn't be allowed to own more than 12 stations.

Rural Americans deserve choice too. George Noory every 10 KHz is not choice.

5944. GOP On the backs of the suffering, taking back america - hate and destruction

If one were to look at the actions of the GOP over the last two years, you quickly see a pattern that is unamerican and unchristian. It's even more evident today as the republicans hold back on helping the survivors of the 9/11 rescuers.

They impeded:
Health care for the sick and poor
Help for the unemployed
Far and EQUAL taxes for all americans
Protecting small retirement investors in the stock market
Protecting american jobs from moving overseas

They promote:
War as economic recovery
Adding more tax cuts for the rich
Keeping excising tax cuts and increasing national debt
Protect large oil at the expense of citizens (gulf spill)
Having to ask for "papers" from anyone of color
Protect large corporations to take jobs overseas
Protect large corporations to keep profits overseas
Protect large corporations to bring products frm overseas w/o tax
Allow the rich to keep their money overseas in banks
Protectionism of monopolistic industry at taxpayer expense Flood of Sexist and Racist innuendos

All one hears from faux and the talk show host is hate and intimidation and there is never any talk of solutions or self promotion. Only unrealistic fear mongering of made-up conspiracies and the only promotion is of hate hate hate. Fear only works on the stupid and they must think we are all stupid.

As a former republican, I can gladly say I no longer support the GOP. As a crhistain, I fear I will have to evaluate where my faith lays if they continue to follow behind the dark GOP party of destruction.

Hope someone reads this.

ARLP030 Propagation de K7RA

Sunspot activity increased again this week, but on Tuesday and Wednesday (July 27-28), a stiff solar wind increased Earth's geomagnetic activity, which is a negative for HF propagation.

Sunspot group 1089 grew, shrunk, and is growing again, visible a total of 12 days as of early Friday. Three more sunspot groups appeared this week, with the latest, 1092 rapidly emerging on Wednesday with a relative size of 180 millionths of a solar hemisphere, growing to 210 on Thursday. The relative size of group 1089 for July 19-29 was 130, 150, 310, 240, 200, 160, 140, 100, 70, 90 and 140. Unfortunately, 1089 will shortly be out of view, rotating across our Sun's western horizon.

Last week's bulletin ARLP029 mentioned rising weekly solar flux averages (our reporting week for data at the bottom of each bulletin runs from Thursday through Wednesday) and for the last four weeks it was 72.8, 79.2, 80.6 and 85.3. Average daily sunspot numbers over the same weeks were 16, 18.9, 21.7 and 35.6.

Although the average for this week was greater than last, a glance at a table of sunspot numbers at http://www.swpc.noaa.gov/ftpdir/indices/DSD.txt shows that the highest sunspot numbers for July were really centered around the seven days from July 20-26.

Predicted solar flux (as of Thursday) is 87 for Friday and Saturday (July 30-31), 85 on August 1-3, and 87 on August 4-6. Predicted planetary A index for those days is 8 on July 30-31 and 5 on August 1-9. This is from the USAF and NOAA forecast at http://www.swpc.noaa.gov/ftpmenu/forecasts/45DF.html, released daily around 2100z.

Geophysical Institute Prague seems to agree with NOAA/USAF, predicting quiet to unsettled conditions for July 30-31, and quiet conditions August 1-5.

Steve Daniel, NN4T of Murfreesboro, Tennessee posed an interesting question in an email this week. "As the 6 meter sporadic E season winds down (at least it seems to be winding down here in Tennessee) I find myself thinking back to the 2000/2001 time frame when I was first on 6. That was at or near the peak of the last cycle and F2 propagation on 6 seemed quite common. How high does solar activity have to be for F2 propagation on 6 meters to occur?"

I posed that question to Carl Luetzelschwab, K9LA, and to several others, including Jon Jones, N0JK and Vince Varnas, W7FA.

Vince commented, "The key to 6 meter F2 is solar flares. These briefly enhance the F layer, raising the MUF to and above 50 MHz. In cycle 19 it seemed to some as if there were daily openings to Europe, South America, Africa and/or Japan. Such was not the case. Even then, F2 was not a daily occurrence for most of us living in the U.S. It is unlikely that we will ever have solar flux/sunspot levels high enough to produce the same daily consistency and dependability of F layer openings as is seen on 20 meters. The bottom line is the higher the SSN/solar flux, the more likely to see solar flares producing temporarily high enough MUF levels to cause F layer propagation on 6 meters".

Jon noted that assuming lower activity during the current solar cycle 24, there will be far less F2 propagation on 6 meters than in cycle 23.

"From North America the 6 meter F2 propagation with low sunspot numbers will be to South America and possibly Hawaii. Unlikely for openings to Europe, Asia, Africa, etc. Big CMEs (Coronal Mass Ejections) can occur at any time, even weak solar cycles. Recall the Carrington solar flare of 1859 (the largest on record) occurred during a weak solar cycle. However we may have to wait a while until the next 'Carrington Flare' as ice cores show these major solar events happen only once per 500 years."

Jon continued, "The primary terrestrial long haul 6 meter DX mode for a weak cycle 24 will be E-layer for mid-latitude stations. TEP (Trans-Equatorial Propagation) occurs even with low solar fluxes for stations located at appropriate distances from the geomagnetic equator. Occasional Es linking to TEP will take place. JT-65a EME will play an increasing role for 6 Meter DXers".

Jon provided an excellent review of 6 meter F2 propagation by Jim Kennedy K6MIO/KH6, at http://www.uksmg.org/content/f2propagationmech.htm.

Carl referred us to his excellent article "Predicting 6 Meter F2 Propagation", which you can read on his web site.

On the K9LA web site at http://mysite.ncnetwork.net/k9la/, select VHF, then the seventh article linked at the bottom of the list.

In response to the question from W3HKK in last week's bulletin ARLP029, Lloyd Korb, K8DIO of Twinsburg, Ohio asked us to check "The World Above 50 MHz" column in the current (August) issue of QST. "There are two pages of great info on meteor scatter communications. Maybe other VHF enthusiasts will recognize MS the next time they hear a 'Ping'!! I have been using MS for over 30 years on 50 MHz and 2 meters. Neat stuff!!"

Vince Varnas, W7FA commented, "What W3HKK was hearing on 6 meters was: (1) meteor bursts, and (2) tropospheric fading. I often heard this on 6 meters when I lived in Dayton, Ohio (K8REG)".

Sunspot numbers for July 22 through 28 were 39, 45, 41, 39, 39, 15, and 31 with a mean of 35.6. 10.7 cm flux was 87.7, 86.4, 85.2, 85.2, 84.4, 82.6 and 85.3 with a mean of 85.3. Estimated planetary A indices were 5, 8, 5, 6, 6, 19 and 14 with a mean of 9. Estimated mid-latitude A indices were 4, 6, 4, 5, 5, 11 and 10 with a mean of 6.4.

President Obama’s Assistant Secretary of State for Population, Refugees and Migration, Eric P. Schwartz, previously served as the director of a George Soros-funded organization that promoted global governance.

Prior to his appointment to the State Department last year, Schwartz served as executive director of the U.S. Connect Fund, a Soros-funded and affiliated organization. The group promotes global governance and states on its website its mission is to influence “policy through integrative collaborative grant making on human rights, non-proliferation, climate change and development, and effective foreign assistance.”

Hundreds of Americans are campaigning nationwide to defeat the Democratic Congress and fill the 435 seats in the House of Representatives, but I'm the ONLY candidate who is actually running AGAINST Speaker of the House Nancy Pelosi. I'm the ONLY candidate who can truly RETIRE NANCY PELOSI this Fall.

For 23 years, Nancy Pelosi has acted ABOVE THE LAW, as though the words "all men are created equal" does not apply to her or the statist agenda she and Barack Obama aim to continue implementing. Now, it is time for Americans to send her into retirement once and for all.

The surest and quickest way to do it is to defeat the radical Obama agenda is to defeat Nancy Pelosi, the cheerleader-in-chief, the head financier and the architect of the most imperial Congress in this nation's history...and that's why I need your help TODAY!

It is Nancy Pelosi who has single-handedly rammed the health care bill through Congress that's now causing insurance rates to skyrocket, taxes to rise, and accelerating an exodus of good doctors from communities who needed them most. It is now Nancy Pelosi that is pushing a cap-and-tax bill that will kill jobs nationwide, raise the cost of energy, make us more dependent on fossil fuels, and further damage our already anemic economy.

It is Pelosi who continues to spearhead the drive to saddle this nation with $13 trillion in new debt over the next decade. It is Speaker Pelosi who now dares to tell us that we're still not paying enough in taxes and that we must pay EVEN MORE!

Pelosi, just like the President, wants to control EVERY aspect of your life. She is personally responsible for championing some of the most egregious legislation that will increase your taxes and strip you of your personal liberties.

Rather than worrying about defending Americans from foreign threats, focusing on the need to improve homeland security, getting the government off our backs, so that we can get back to work and stimulating the economy, Pelosi seeks ways to create media opportunities while stealing your freedoms and spending $19,000 of your hard-earned tax dollars on her office rent. She masks it all under the guise of "creating" and "saving" jobs.

I also believe that the election of 2010 will determine the destiny of the United States. Speaker Pelosi and her Washington cronies are taking this nation down a path that will destroy the greatest country the world has known. Defeating Speaker Pelosi will stop the Obama agenda in its tracks NOW!

I am working day and night to make sure it happens.

5957. 0bamaCare won't stop rising health care costs

Just days after President Obama first took office, Peter Orszag, in his new role as director of the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), held a fiscal summit in which he urged Washington policymakers to commit themselves to an agenda of fiscal responsibility. And for Orszag, the path to fiscal responsibility was through the nation's rapidly growing entitlement programs—in particular, Medicare and Medicaid. Following up on an argument he'd made frequently as the director of the Congressional Budget Office (CBO), the nation's top budgeteer declared that "the single most important thing we can do to improve the long-term fiscal health of our nation is slow the growth rate in health care costs." Reversing course on those projected costs, he said, "is the key to our fiscal future."

If that's so, then the door remains locked.

Is Rush a liberal talk show host? I'm just wondering, since it's libtards that quote him ad nauseum. BTW, since you failed to tell us which hybrid car he was talking about, how can you claim he is wrong?

They would never bring anything on the market that can only go 40 miles on a charge/fillup. Hybrids run on batteries, but have a gasoline engine that charges the batteries while you drive.

You don't need to pretend to be stupid. If that's the best you can do,

It must suck loosing your memory. McCain is the senator from AZ (who

Do you know where Arizona is on a map? I bet McCain placed the troops he

Most people get told they've failed "at the END of basic traing" but you didn't even get that far. Booted out mid way! What a laugh!! I guess it would be bad that the government stops the CEOs from taking home millions in bonuses. if the CEOs don't make money, the republican senators don't make money. the GOP would have to give the CEOs more tax cuts.

Also would have to make it easier to drop sick people from coverage to increase profits because thats the way capitalism works.

Quote from http://content.usatoday.com/communities/driveon/post/2010/07/did-rush-limbaugh-err-on-gms-electric-volt-from-obama-motors/1

Limbaugh...seemed somewhat confused about how the Volt worked, noting once that it had a gas engine and an electric motor, but suggesting its 40-mile electric-only range was its only power source. "That 40-mile range has to include you getting home, and staying home three to four hours to charge the thing," Limbaugh said.

After 40 miles, the Volt's gasoline engine kicks in, giving it about 300 additional miles of range. Limbaugh also said the Volt was the most expensive Chevrolet model outside the Corvette. But in fact the Suburban and Tahoe Hybrid models also cost more. And the $7,500 tax credit will be available on the Nissan Leaf electric vehicle and other models that have large enough batteries to meet federal guidelines.

With regard to our new battery factories around here, most think either the cars will not sell (most folks don't want them) and that the plants will leave when their lucrative tax breaks (which we, the taxpayers, pay for) expire.

VNO,

WLW-AM on 700 kHz at 50KW is an example of how the old Clear Channel AM/MW Radio Stations
are not-so-clear channel and now only have a
'protected' broadcast zone or 750 {Air} MIles.

FCC AM Query = 137 Records for 700 kHz
http://www.fcc.gov/fcc-bin/amq?state=&call=&arn=&city=&freq=700&fre2=700&type=0&facid=&cla ss=&list=1&dist=&dlat2=&mlat2=&slat2=&NS=N&dlon2=&mlon2=&slon2=&EW=W&size=9

KDKA 1020 kHz
{FCC has 200+ Records for 1020 kHz}

WSM 650 kHz
{FCC has 136+ Records for 650 kHz}

Maybe you need a Remote Desert DXing Spot :
-Note- Do your Scouting and Set-Up during the Day and come back around Twilight to start your DXing.
-Tip- Dress for the Desert and being outdoors.
Boots & Hat + Water, etc.

In Nevada find yourself a one of those long gently
sloping valleys that seam to go on forever . . .

Drive far out into the desert, or at lease a few miles away from anything man-made.

Get on the western-side of the valley with the
down ward slope facing toward the Eastern Sky.

Run an Insulated Stranded Wire along the Desert Floor for 100, 200, 500 or 1000 Feet; usually the longer the better. Point this Wire toward :
NYC ~ 80*
Shot-the-Middle for Due East @ 90*
ATL ~ 100*
MIA ~ 120*
{your choice}

-Tip- Use a Map and Compass to figure where
you want your Wire to run to hit your Target Area {City/State} of Reception.

Put a 4-Foot Ground Rod at the far-eastern-end
and Strip an Inch or two of the Insulation from the End and Attach the Wire to the Ground Rod using a Clamp.

-Alternative- Use a 1-Watt Resistor between the end for the Wire and the Ground Rod : 220 Ohm;
330 Ohm; 470 Ohm; 620 Ohm; 750 Ohm; and 910 Ohm. Pick and choose a Resistor to see what works best for you with this Antenna at your location. -OR- Don't connect the Wire to the Ground Rod and see what you hear.

Take a 5-Gallon Jeep Can full of Water and Soak*
the Ground for about a foot or two around the Ground Rod; use all of the Water.
* Do this to the Ground each time you use
the Antenna for the Night.

At the near-western-end of the Wire Strip back
the Insulation and connect to your AM Radio
or your Car's Whip Antenna.

It is Import to "Mark" this Near-Western-End
Location very well so that you can Find "It" in the Twilight when you come back : Painted Stake, Reflectors, Piled Rocks; all three.

Beverage On Ground [BOG] Antenna
http://www.am-dx.com/antenna_overview.htm
-and- http://www.qsl.net/wb5ude/bog/hope this helps - iane ~ RHF

RHF,

Thanks for the antenna tips. Never tried the BOG, but seems interesting. I was thinking of keeping it simple with a tunable loop antenna which would be rotatable so I could notch out any BCB's that could interfere with the reception.

I thought the concentration of stations carrying C2C was a bit to high.
However, one night I tuned the entire AM BCB, 530 to 1710 and copied 9 stations carrying C2C. That works out to "every 131 kHz". I'm sure others have different results to to location, antennas, etc.

What we need are trials. Charlie Rangel will apparently have one in September, unless some palms are greased.

What is needed, after the trial and conviction, is to have a hanging, on the Capitol steps, and then to leave the corpse there, stinking.

Then, make every Congress critter walk by every damn day, and make them breathe deeply.

At one time, the hung bodies of pirates were left at the entrance to the Thames, and I think it may have worked.

Didn't work. The British are more fucked-up than we are, and that's saying something. American tea merchants were considered something akin to pirates for not selling government tea. Led to quite a scuffle.

I'm too ADHD for movies, unless I get high first. I like football and concerts, disaster porn, and NASA TV.

On my cable, the basic analog channels look to be letterboxed versions of the HD channels. The HD locals (like where football happens on Sunday) look great on my TWC broadcast basic tier ($19.95/month).
Better than satellite, but not as good as directly from air.

Gee, Limpballs spouting off without having any facts. Who'd a thunk it?

With that HUGE (some say obscene) salary he gets, it's amazing that he can't afford to hire a staff that will help him keep his foot out of his

No we didn't. The Revolution was/is about fascism. We beat the fascist British, but the assholes behind the British merely retreated for a while. They eventually consummated their win during the Bush years, when the US Treasury was looted in an unprecedented manner.

That'll teach us uppity colonials. The Revolution accomplished nothing in the long run, except to prove that the new boss is same as the old boss.

And you dumb-ass ditto-heads were the useful idiots that made it all possible. Navy Vet Steve Lare helps the oligarchs destroy America from within, while deriding those actually trying to save their country. You should be very proud.

Do you make this propaganda stuff up yourself?

"Given the amount of damage done to society by academic theorizing, often restrained by little more than whether other similar-minded academics like the conclusions, I have far more confidence that businesses that must meet the profit test by improving buyers' options actually benefit society than that such academic theorizing generally benefits society."

"When people are free to make their own arrangements, any dependency or reliability problems are taken into account in their decision-making, leaving no issue requiring public policy to solve."

"Dave wants protection; that is, he wants Bill's money … Dave talks sentiment and metaphysics finely, and, after all, all there is in it is that he wants Bill's money." – William Graham Sumner

http://mises.org/daily/4586

Understanding the relationship of capitalism to freedom is fundamental to understanding why [0baMa0 Tse Dung's] handling of the economic crisis is such a disaster. Now that we've moved beyond the President firing corporate CEOs to Barney Frank seeking to set corporate salaries, http://www.washingtonexaminer.com/politics/Beyond-AIG-A-Bill-to-let-Big-Governme nt-Set-Your-Salary-42158597.html
we have to be crystal clear on this point.

Let me turn over the microphone to Thomas Sowell, http://www.tsowell.com who wrote in his book Basic Economics:

'Too often a false contrast is made between the impersonal marketplace and the compassionate policies of various government programs. But both systems face the same scarcity of resources and both systems make choices within the constraints of that scarcity. The difference is that one system involves each individual making choices for himself or herself, while the other system involves a smaller number of people making choices for others."'

'"It may be fashionable for journalists to refer to "the whim of the marketplace," as if that were something different from the desires of people, just as it was once fashionable to refer to “production for use, rather than for profit” — as if profits could be made by producing things that people cannot use or do not want to use. The real contrast is between choices made by individuals for themselves and choices made for them by others who presume to define what these individuals “really” need."'

Simply put:

Capitalism is each individual making choices for himself.

Socialism is those who claim to know best, making your choices for you.

The former is freedom. The latter [The Road To Serfdom] is anything but.

A loop is probably the easiest way to hear more stations and it's not limited to one fixed direction. Keep in mind that many stations use directional antennas that, although you may think they're an easy catch for the distance, may prevent you from hearing them.

Here in OH I still occasionally hear KFI-640, KOA-850, KNX-1070, and some others. Cross-continent DX was definitely much easier years ago.

Hi,

Just curious re your opinions.

What would be the next step up for a table top receiver over the JRC NRD 545 ?

Should include the vhf/uhf mil air, PD, etc. bands as well as HF.

What would it offer better than the 545: sensitivity, or...?
When was it first on the market ?

Assume a $3,500 limit. Should be new, not used.

Not interested in a SDR receiver; tried one but returned it due to all the software glitches.

Thanks,
Bob

E.J. Dionne argues that rich Americans are “undertaxed”

http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2010/07/28/AR2010072804529.html

He quotes the Congressional Budget Office to explain why: “the gaps in after-tax income between the richest 1 percent of Americans and the middle and poorest fifths of the country more than tripled between 1979 and 2007.”

Mr. Dionne’s view of “undertaxed” is odd. The IRS reports that in 2007 (the latest year for which data are available) the top 1 percent of taxpayers in the U.S. paid 40.4 percent of the total income taxes collected by Uncle Sam. This percentage is well above the 24.8 percent of the income-tax burden borne by this group in 1987, the year after the 1986 tax reform. Moreover, the top 1 percent of taxpayers now pay more federal income taxes than do the bottom 95 percent combined!*

If taxes are the price we pay for government services – rather than booty to be extracted simply because someone is unusually wealthy – then Mr. Dionne’s conclusion that rich Americans are undertaxed overtaxes credulity.

Sincerely,
Donald J. Boudreaux
